Unanimous Council Vote Against Fluoridation Plan

By Hugh Reynolds

KINGSTON
"I haven't changed my personal feelings on fluoridation," said Aldermen John E. Finch (D-Fifth Ward) "But people don't want to be dictated to. It's not for me to tell them they must have it."

If any of Finch's fellow aldermen noticed his "switch" on one of the city's most controversial issues, they didn't in the city's most controversial issues, they didn't mention it as the Common Council unanimously passed a resolution in opposition to the fluoridation of the city's water supplies by state mandate.

Finch was on the short end of a 9-4 vote against fluoridation when it last surfaced in the Council but last night's issue wasn't so much fluoridation and the still controversial pros and cons as to its health benefits, but rather, an issue of "freedom of choice."

The resolution, introduced from the Laws and Rules Committee and co-sponsored by Committee Chairman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward) and Majority Leader Peter J. Mancuso (D-Tenth Ward), in fact made mention only of the opposition of a "large majority of the populace" and the "grave doubts as to the constitutionality" of mandating the fluoridation of the city's water supply.

The resolution, directed to Gov. Hugh Carey, arose out of Carey's announced intentions to mandate the fluoridation of all public water supply systems in the state.

The aldermen voted 11-0 to express their "total and complete opposition" to the governor and also sent copies to Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey and State Senator Richard E. Schermerhorn.

Two aldermen did not vote: Clifford G. Sinsabaugh was absent because of illness and Mancuso served as acting president; as such he is not allowed to vote.

In other action, the aldermen approved a dollar a month increase for Kingston Cablevision, the first increase the firm has had since the state approved the present $5.95 for residential hookups about four years ago. State approval is still required. The final vote was 7-4 with Aldermen Brian D. Smith (R-Third Ward), James Howard (D-Seventh), Emilio A. Primo (D-Eighth) and Philip DeCicco (D-Ninth) voting against it.

The aldermen approved Axel Johannsen as the redeveloper of a property at the corner of Clinton Avenue and John Street now owned by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency. Prior to the council's 7:30 meeting a public hearing was held with no opposition to the proposal. Negotiated sale price was $33,000.

The aldermen heard two readings of a local law that will license and regulate tow trucks in the city. Final approval is expected next month.

The city will hire a professional appraisal firm from Pittsburgh in its assessment dispute with Kingston Shopping Plaza. Cost will be $4,500 with the Kingston Schools Consolidated paying half.

A total of $6,000 was transferred from the contingency account to pay for the updating of the city's code books. The original contract dates to 1967.

Communications were received regarding the demolition of a historic landmark at 306 Clinton Avenue. The Landmarks Preservation Commission charged the city violated its own law by allowing the demolition without first getting approval from the Commission. A letter from the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, which owned the property, said specific permission came from federal officials last summer.

The Council adjourned in memory of Mrs. Mary Amato, mother of Deputy City Clerk Rosemarie Hogan. Mrs. Amato died last week.

Residents Will Decide Fate Of Kingston's Old City Hall

KINGSTON

It almost seemed as if the aldermen, after studiously avoiding the issue of the old city hall for so long, once they faced it, just got carried away.

As a result of Tuesday night's Common Council meeting, the voters will get a chance to decide whether they want to spend up to $1.5 million to restore and provide parking for the 103-year old building at 408 Broadway, abandoned by the city in September of 1972.

The referendum that will appear on the ballot Nov. 4 will read as follows: "Shall the old city hall building at 408 Broadway . . . be renovated as a landmarks preservation site at an approximate cost of $1.5 million with the alternative to such a renovation being to otherwise dispose of such land and structure without limitation or restriction?"

Although the questions comes in two parts, the voter is asked to give one answer: yes or no. Alderman Philip DeCicco (D-Ninth Ward), who sponsored the legislation, says a "yes" answer would be a vote for renovation while a "no" answer would be a vote for disposal of the building without "limitation or restriction."

The aldermen, prior to the vote on the referendum which passed by a 7-4 margin with Alderman Joseph McGrane (D-Second Ward), Brian Smith (R-Third Ward), Clarence Stoutenburgh (D-Fourth Ward) and John E. Finch (D-Fifth Ward) voting against, removed one important restriction: The building will go to its fate without city designation as an historic landmark, although it remains a national landmark.

That was the vote that got the city hall issue rolling last night.

Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), chairman of the Council's Laws and Rules Committee, as promised following a tour of the building on March 13, brought out legislation that rejected the designation of the building as an historic landmark.

The vote was close—Quick's proposal was approved by a 6-5 margin—with proponents contending that nondesignation would allow for greater opportunity for some entity other than the city to purchase and restore the building (since without an historic designation there would be no restrictions on its restoration) while opponents contended that by not designating the building it would leave it open to the ultimate humiliation: demolition.

There were a number of parliamentary moves before the referendum was finally approved. First, the Laws and Rules Committee had to be "relieved of its duties" in order to bring the referendum to the Council floor for a vote since there weren't enough votes in the committee to bring it out.

The aldermen beat back a motion to table what Alderman John Finch (D-Fifth Ward) called a "spur of the moment thing and gave it to the people."

Alderman Peter J. Mancuso (D-Tenth Ward), serving as acting president of the Council last night in place of T. Robert Gallo, chided his colleagues for passing the responsibility for making the decision to the people.

There have been a number of estimates of the cost of restoring city hall—one architect set the price as low as $800,000—but Quick and DeCicco, the sponsors of the referendum, contend their figures are the most realistic since they include money for parking.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig's signature would officially place the matter before the people come November.

Government Defenses Crumbling, Saigon in Leadership Crisis

SAIGON (UPI) — Heavy fighting broke out today in the Xuan Loc region 38 miles northwest of Saigon where Communist forces cut Highway 1, the retreat route of government forces trying to halt the Communist onslaught down the coast.

Saigon seethed in a crisis of leadership.

Government defenses were reported crumbling around Cam Ranh Bay, 188 miles northeast of Saigon, and military sources said less than 5,000 government troops stood between Saigon and the Communist offensive that has swept up 16 provinces in a matter of weeks. Some were already committed at Xuan Loc.

President Nguyen Van Thieu held a series of urgent military conferences amid reports army generals had given him three days to resign. Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, the U.S. Army chief of staff, joined Thieu and high ranking South Vietnamese army officers at the presidential palace for a crisis meeting.

Government sources said Premier Tran Thien Khiem had submitted his resignation but that it had not yet been accepted. Khiem appealed to the South Vietnamese people in an emotional address not to give up despite the overwhelming Communist advance towards the capital.

The South Vietnamese Senate unanimously passed a resolution calling for a change of leadership in the government — but not specifically calling for Thieu to resign. It blamed the staggering military defeats on failure of the United States to honor its commitments and on the mistakes of the Thieu government.

The first convoys of refugees and soldiers fleeing the central coast reached the outskirts of Saigon late today, landing at the port of Vung Tau 40 miles southeast of Saigon and bypassing the fighting at Xuan Loc 40 miles to the north. They were met by barricades and tough military policemen.

The MPs disarmed soldiers among the refugees and collected them in groups. Only civilians who could prove they had addresses in Saigon were allowed to pass the barricades on a crossroads 8 miles northeast of the capital.

Most could not meet the test and were left sitting forlornly in trucks, buses and cars parked alongside the highway as a heavy rain fell.

Several armored personnel carriers and about 200 MPs were manning the blockade at the intersection of the Bien Hoa Highway and the Saigon Belt Road near Tu Duc.

MPs held UPI photographer Willie Vicoy at gunpoint and pulled film from his cameras at the roadblock. An MP major ordered journalists to leave the scene.

The 41 senators passed a six-point resolution which said, "We urgently call for a change of policy to solve the war and a new leadership which will base its policy on freedom and justice."

Meanwhile the Pentagon has ordered 700 armed Marines to board the Navy ships sent to help evacuate Vietnamese refugees in an effort to prevent a recurrence of the rape and robbery incident Monday.

Bella Abzug Touches All the Bases

By Carl Graham

KINGSTON

Congresswoman Bella Abzug—big hat and all—came to Kingston Tuesday night for the annual YWCA dinner meeting and made clear her stand on southeast Asia, President Ford's administration, the 94th Congress, defense spending, the economy, and women's rights, if there was every any doubt.

The Democratic representative of New York's 20th District swept into the Governor Clinton Hotel 40 minutes late and was welcomed with a standing ovation after stopping to chat with a group of Right to Life pickets gathered outside the hotel to protest against her appearance.

Ms. Abzug held an audience of 300 YWCA members and guests spellbound for more than an hour with a mixture of strong convictions ("America is a great country. We can make it work"); humor (Washington is very seducing. I know—I have spent four years seducing the seducees) and faith in the American people ("President Ford and Kissinger have failed but the American people have not failed").

She reviewed her recent Asian trip, saying "I can't believe my country could be responsible for such devastation." She said the Ford administration is trying to blame Congress for what is happening in southeast Asia.

"A whole new cover story is emerging," she said. "They are saying 'We lost South Vietnam and Cambodia' just as they once said 'We lost China.' None of these countries were ours to lose."

"We are witnessing the final collapse of a wrong U.S. policy of intervention built around the hollow concept of stopping communism, but never really thought of stopping it with anything but corrupt, weak, unpopular and incompetent dictators."

She called for the United States to send food and medicine to Vietnam and Cambodia and to assist in evacuation to the greatest extent possible "without getting involved in the actual fighting."

Turning to defense spending, she said that after more than a trillion dollars has been spent on defense since World War II, "President Ford wants Congress to enact the highest military budget in history. It doesn't make sense. It is time we ended this unparalleled ripoff of the American people," drawing one of the frequent round of applause that punctuated her speech.

plause that punctuated her speech.

Of the economy, she said the main problem is "a gross maldistribution of the nation's wealth—too few get too much. Monopoly is a major cause of inflation, but it doesn't have to be that way. We don't have to sit back and be victimized and manipulated."

Turning to Women's liberation, one of her favorite themes, she said "We had a revolution in 1776 but at least half of us were left out of it," and was greeted by several shouts of "Right on" from the largely feminine audience.

"Women are still shut out for the most part," she continued. "One telephone repairwoman doesn't make a revolution."

"It isn't really women's liberation, it is human liberation. Women are not saying 'we want to be free.' We want everybody to be free."

About 25 pickets from the Ulster County Right to Life, most of them women and children, spent more than an hour outside the front entrance to the hotel, displaying placards with slogans such as "Give Life a Chance" and "Switch Hats, Bella. Fight for Life."

Mrs. Lillian Loughlin, the group's chairwoman ("We have about 125 active members and a mailing list of more than 300") said "We wish Bella well, but oppose her views. I think it was a very poor choice of speakers."

Ms. Abzug stopped for a few moments and spoke with the demonstrators. "I always welcome people with different points of view," she said later. "When we stop expressing them we are in trouble."

Court Ruling Favors City School Board

KINGSTON Kingston City Schools Consolidation has won its right to condemn the Lake Katrine property of Michael and Olga Vasilevich which it wishes to acquire for the construction of a new high school and related facilities.

Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley Jr., in his decision found that the evidence presented in court clearly supports the taking of the defendants' property for a public purpose and that there is no just compensation for such use.

Justice Staley said that all that is required of a board of education to determine necessity for taking private property is that it act in good faith and with sound discretion.

The case was heard in Supreme Court Feb. 25 with the Kingston Board of Education seeking to condemn 28.475 acres of what is planned to be a 68-acre campus. The issue was argued on two levels: whether a new high school was needed and if so whether the 28.475 acres in question was specifically needed rather than say some 30 acres across Leggs Mills Road.

Charles Gaffney and Francis Murray argued the case for the school board and Gerald Evans of New Paltz represented the property owners, the Vasilevich family.

The school board contended that it needed the property in addition to the 37 acres it had already purchased because the high school enrollment within the district is constantly increasing and that there is no additional room for expansion of the present high school on Broadway.

The board pointed out that the existing high school, which was built in 1915, is deteriorating to a point where major repairs and reconstruction will be necessary.

Such projects could not be completed without having another school available to handle the pupils during construction, the board maintained.

It claimed further that the site designated for the new school best fulfills the needs of the district in that the site has easy access by means of two secondary roads to major trunk highways and is located in a low density residential area.

The defendants generally denied the plaintiff's allegations and denied that projected high school enrollments are indicative of the need for new high school construction.

The school board argued that it had considered 30 other sites and that the Lake Katrine site most suited to the purposes for which it would be used.

Justice Staley authorized the school board to proceed with condemnation proceedings and acquire the property. He named John Gotelli, Edward Davey and Mrs. Muriel Scott as commissioners of appraisal.

The school board reportedly offered the Vasilevich family $267,665 for the property last October.

Fire Post . . . Sparks Flying

KINGSTON

The appointment of a new Ulster County fire coordinator has sparked more than a little controversy in recent weeks and it appears that the disagreement between the Fire Advisory Board and many fire companies in the county has been kindled by the board's reported recommendation that J. Gregson Greer be named to the post.

The Fire Advisory Board, meeting last Wednesday, voted to recommend Greer, who is presently first deputy fire commissioner, to fill a vacancy created by the recent resignation of Chief Raymond J. Morris, as of March 31.

Many firemen and organizations have, however, come out in support of the appointment of Wesley D. Clark to the post instead of Greer. Clark is now second deputy fire coordinator.

It is the Ulster County Legislature which will make the final decision however, taking into consideration both the recommendations of the Fire Advisory Board and the fire companies themselves.

An attempt to Greer was made previously by the Firemanic and Civil Defense Committee which filed a resolution to that effect in late February recommending him to the legislature. But, the measure was withdrawn at the last minute prior to the March meeting of the county board.

Sensing that there was some discontent over the proposal, sponsors withdrew the resolution in order "to secure more input" regarding who should be named to fill the post. Since then the Fire Advisory Board has reportedly received many letters from fire companies in support of Clark but nevertheless voted in favor of Greer.

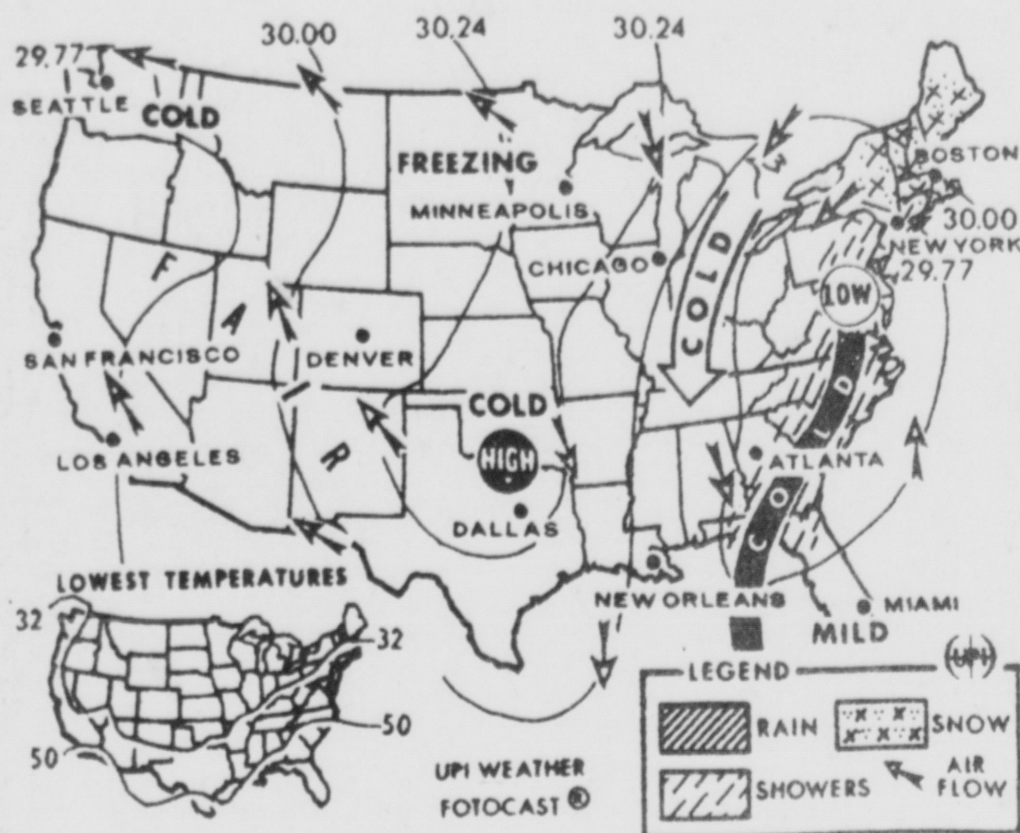

The legislature will hold its regular monthly meeting April 10 but it is not known at this time whether the Firemanic and Civil Defense Committee and three co-sponsors will bring the resolution out on the floor for a vote. On the measure with the committee were Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8), Louis M. Bevier (R-Dist. 8) and Thomas Roach (R-Dist. 8).

Specifically it recommends Greer as fire coordinator, Clark as first deputy and Duncan D. Wilson as second deputy.

Both candidates are reportedly well liked and have extensive training in the firemanic field. Greer is from Walker Valley and Clark resides in Port Ewen.

Legislator James Palen (R-Dist. 8) is chairman of the Firemanic and Civil Defense Committee. The committee when it first recommended Greer and the moving up of Clark and Wilson, decided not to name a new man to the third deputy's position feeling that that recommendation should come from the Fire Advisory Board. Therefore it is anticipated that the third position will be filled at a later date.

The county board will meet at 4 and 8 p.m. in the County Office Building.

Ford Studies Viet Situation, Waits For More Information

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — President Ford's spokesman says diplomatic attempts to stop the Communist offensive in South Vietnam have been futile.

In Washington, Philip C. Habib, the State Department's top analyst on East Asia, said the administration has concluded that diplomacy wouldn't do any good anyway — that the North Vietnamese have decided to try to win on the battlefield.

Ford is waiting for more information. The eyes and ears that he sent to evaluate the situation are still in Vietnam.

They include Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, Army chief of staff, and David Hume Kennerly, a former combat photographer with a different series of sources who is close to Ford. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is expected here soon for a full review of diplomatic policy.

Ford was to play golf today, then has a busy schedule in San Diego Thursday and San Francisco Friday.

"At the moment there are no new diplomatic initiatives under way in the normal sense," White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Tuesday.

"Of course we seek full implementation of the Paris Accords by North Vietnam, and we have stated that publicly and often. We have tried through normal diplomatic channels to persuade North Vietnam to live up to the accords. These efforts have so far been unsuccessful."

In a briefing Tuesday, Nessen said, "The United States is pursuing diplomatic initiatives which have been futile so far. They are going on."

Later, he told reporters "I was misinformed on this subject by a member of the National Security Council staff." There were no initiatives, he said, outside of routine attempts.

"These diplomatic efforts should not be considered as new diplomatic initiatives," he said.

Habib said the administration felt the North Vietnamese were trying to take South Vietnam by force, that it had no intention to keep the Paris agreements, and that it would do no good to request a reconvening of the Paris peace conference on Indochina.

Habib's said his opinion was Ford would ask Congress for massive military and economic aid for Saigon if his observers and other reports convinced him that Saigon can "stabilize the military situation." Congress has so far been unwilling to provide the $300 million in emergency aid Ford requested in January.

An air of pessimism prevailed among Ford's advisers. Some military experts were bitter over the performance of South Vietnam's army, which gave up three major cities with barely a struggle. They felt it challenged former President Richard Nixon's Vietnamization theory — that the South Vietnamese could be trained and equipped to defeat the Communists.

"You can provide the wherewithal, but you can't Vietnamize morale and leadership," said one aide.

Ford is expected to make his first public evaluation of the situation Thursday at a broadcast news conference. So far he has sidestepped questions on the subject.

The President played golf for five hours Tuesday, read intelligence reports, conferred with staffers, then had a "drop in" dinner party for Palm Springs friends, including Bob Hope and his wife, Eva Gabor and her husband, Frank Jamison; and former Army football coach Earl "Red" Blaik.

Uncertainty Riddles Residents of Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) — A mood of uncertainty, fed by rumors and fears of an impending Communist attack, gripped the South Vietnamese capital today.

And yet, on the surface, all was calm.

Vietnamese girls, their flowing dresses and long black hair flapping in the breeze, promenaded along the Saigon River past the Majestic Hotel's Cyclot Coffee Bar, smiling and chatting gaily.

Only a few hundred yards away, hundreds of students waited anxiously for every refugee boat, looking for missing parents, friends and relatives.

In President Nguyen Van Thieu's Independence palace, grim-faced aides and generals came and went in a crisis atmosphere.

Outside the palace, in secret gatherings, powerful political figures and others who want to see action or change plotted against Thieu.

Others talked about different plots and plans — how to get out of Saigon if the Communists come, or when they come.

The piaster fell by more than 50 percent on the black market compared with the dollar as the rich moved to cash in their piasters for dollars. By midday, the rate was more than 1,200 piasters to the dollar, compared with 825 Tuesday.

Gold was selling for more than $230 an ounce at noon, with upward price changes almost hourly, merchants said.

Some American businessmen have sent their dependents out of the country. Three major oil companies engaged in offshore exploration work have pulled out or are in the process of doing so.

International airlines all reported a considerable increase in outward bookings and the lines of people trying to get exit visas grew longer each day.

"It's a madhouse there now," the wife of one foreigner said.

The relentless Communist offensive fed the rumors and moved the city closer to panic that could cause collapse and anarchy.

That's what happened in Da Nang, the nation's second largest city, less than a week ago.

"Our biggest worry is a repeat of Da Nang in Saigon," said Edwin P. Ketchum, president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Saigon.

"In the past, when there have been crises we usually have been able to get a better reading of what might happen," said Ketchum, a Port Charlotte, Fla., resident who is general manager for Esso Eastern, Inc.

"That enabled us to prepare for it. Now, we just don't know. We cannot really plan and prepare the way we would like."

For many Vietnamese the uncertainty was even worse, the despair greater.

Only a handful of them can get out.

"But even if we could get out, where could we go?" one Vietnamese asked. "What could we do?"

In Saigon the people seem to feel let down by the Americans, people they fought beside, worked with and lived with for so long. The mood in the capital has turned bitter. It isn't too far from anger and soon it could be dangerous.

Government Outposts Fall in Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — The last government outposts on the lower Mekong River fell to a rebel siege Tuesday night, freeing thousands of Communist-led troops for a final attack on leaderless Phnom Penh.

The towns of Neak Luong and Banam 30 miles southeast of Phnom Penh fell only a few hours after a tearful President Lon Nol flew to Indonesia for what was described as an "unofficial" visit. He planned to go on to the United States.

Senior government officials said it was clear the 62-year-old, stroke-crippled, chief of state was not expected to return.

The rebels whose troops are now within three miles of the capital have said they will not negotiate a peace settlement with Lon Nol, but observers here said they were doing so well militarily it was not likely they would stop now for talks.

U.S. Ambassador John Gunther Dean said Lon Nol's departure "won't have an adverse effect."

In Peking, exiled Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk called it a plot by the United States, which he said "believes that the temporary retreat of quiescent Lon Nol and his replacement by other super-traitors, mortal enemies of the Cambodian people, will save the skin of its neo-colonialist system established in Phnom Penh."

"I proclaim openly again that on no account, under no circumstances, neither in the near future nor in the more remote future, will the Cambodian resistance agree to be reconciled with the traitors," he said.

Sihanouk is the titular head of the rebel movement. His comments were broadcast by the New China News Agency.

Military sources said as many as 65,000 troops, local civilians and refugees were inside Neak Luong and nearby Banam when the insurgents fought their way in.

Firm figures were not available, but the sources said as many as 6,000 Communist-led insurgents may have been involved in the fighting.

Nine landing craft that reached Phnom Penh this morning were believed the only government units to escape.

One boat was sunk by Communist fire en route.

Military sources said the town's government commander, Brig. Gen. Lim Si-saath, was missing along with a number of other officers.

there was a gap in the defense lines north of the capital which has not been closed for two days.

Military sources said 125 government sailors evacuated a position on the east bank of the Mekong about three miles from the capital Tuesday night under insurgent attack. Seventy-five were reported missing.

Several planes of the U.S. food, fuel and ammunition airlift to Phnom Penh narrowly missed being hit by rebel rockets as they flew in and out of Pochentong airport today.

Rebel gunners fired two barrages of rockets into the south side of Phnom Penh, near the U.S. embassy, killing one person and wounding five. One of the 41 rockets left a huge hole in a building directly opposite the embassy.

One diplomatic source said he feared troop morale nationwide would collapse with Lon Nol's departure.

"Of course they might continue to fight, but it remains to be seen," the source said. "It really depends on the officers."

"I say goodbye to you, my countrymen," Lon Nol said.

"I am going to Indonesia, at the invitation of President Shuaro, to research ways of solving the war question."

"On the other hand, my health also requires medical treatment and I will leave Indonesia and continue my trip to have medical treatment in another place."

'Will Not Budge'... Israel on Pullback

By UPI

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin today said Israel will not budge "one whit" from its terms for a troop pullback in the Sinai desert.

Security Council and leading maritime nations with a stake in the Suez Canal.

President Anwar Sadat announced Saturday he will open the canal June 5.

He also said Egypt wants to renew contacts with Egypt on a new withdrawal agreement, but "the fact that Egypt would on no account accept the Israeli proposals must not be allowed to bring about a change in the Israeli position."

In Cairo, Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi Tuesday said Egypt has asked the United States and the Soviet Union to reconvene the Geneva peace conference on the Middle East.

He suggested that Britain and France take part "in order to avoid polarization at the conference that would lead to a blind alley ... We also welcome the participation of at least one non-aligned country."

Fahmi did not name the nonaligned country, but diplomats said he was thinking of Yugoslavia.

The United Nations also would take part, as it did when the conference held an abortive two-day session in 1973.

"I see no reason or justification to deviate one whit from what we have offered," Rabin said in an armed forces radio interview.

Israel, Rabin said, would accept one of three alternatives:

—A separate treaty which would give Cairo back most of the Sinai Israel captured in 1967.

—An interim accord in which Israel would give up the Mitla and Giddi mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis oil field in exchange for an Egyptian declaration ending the state of war.

—A more limited Israeli troop withdrawal not including the passes or oil fields.

All three were rejected by Egypt during the recent negotiations presided over by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Diplomatic sources said Egypt wanted Britain and France to participate at Geneva because they are permanent members of the U.N.

'Railroad Bridge Must Be Repaired

Transportation Chairman Testifies

Apple Growers Meet Congressmen

ALBANY Patricia Howe of Poughkeepsie, chairman of the Citizens' Committee on Transportation (CCT) testified recently before the Interstate Commerce Committee hearing on the proposed exclusion of the Campbell Hall-Hopewell Junction freight line of the Penn Central Railroad from the Consolidated Railroad Corporation preliminary system plan.

"We feel it is imperative that the Poughkeepsie railroad bridge be repaired and opened as soon as possible to allow direct rail service east and west," Ms. Howe said. "Pressure must be brought to bear on Penn Central to start work immediately."

Ms. Howe said that CCT had done extensive research but had been hampered by forms that were impossible to fill out, requests for information that were not answered and reluctance of rail users to divulge information they considered confidential. Despite these impediments, CCT has determined that 41 users of the Campbell Hall-Hopewell Junction line received 3,456 freight loads in 1974, with 30 of these companies reporting an aggregate tonnage of 195,414 and 24 companies valuing goods received at $23,256,000.

"We received a variety of comments on rail service and users' problems," Ms. Howe reported. "Many users who had New England freight requirements felt that Penn Central has been unable to cope with lack of a bridge connection."

She told ICC that the "on again-off again nature of the Penn Central existence seems to manifest itself in a lack of spirit on the part of employees. Although it is understandable it is hardly a laudatory position to be taken with the customers."

Truckers are more competitive and anxious to be of service, she noted. "Low value-high bulk merchandise is prohibitively expensive if shipped by truck. The railroad should take advantage of this and be more competitive. They need a strong marketing program," Ms. Howe said.

Another complaint heard by CCT was of erratic service and an inadequate supply of cars, she noted. "The quality of service has declined, security of shipments slackened, handling during shipment, maintenance and cleanliness of cars, quality of roadbed and personnel all seem to be on a down trend."

Turning to the proposed site for future power generating stations in the towns of Lloyd and Esopus, Ms. Howe said: "One of the prerequisites of plant siting is availability of rail service. Presently, developed plans call for construction of a rail spur from this branch at Lloyd to the power construction sites. A 10-20 year construction program of up to four individual plants is contemplated. Rail service would be required for transportation of construction materials as well as the many oversized, overweight components peculiar to power plant facilities. Following completion of the building period rail service would be required for energy supply—be it coal or nuclear."

Summarizing, Ms. Howe said that the Hudson Valley has an economic climate better than most in New York. "We want to keep it that way with a strengthened rail service that includes the restoration of the Poughkeepsie railroad bridge. This will allow competitive rail service to and from New England as well as relieve congestion on the northeast corridor passenger route," she said.

... Legislation List ...

WASHINGTON The following is a list of legislation being sponsored or supported by Ulster County's three congressmen, Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25th District), Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th) and Matthew F. McHugh (D-27th).

GILMAN

Congressman Gilman announces his support for a bill providing tax incentives for the elimination of architectural and transportation barriers for handicapped and elderly.

Gilman is also supporting legislation that would require inspection and sanitation standards for imported milk products. The secretary of agriculture is authorized to pay for the inspection system by imposing fees and assessments.

FISH

Congressman Fish is co-sponsoring legislation along with 68 other House members —to allow taxpayers a personal deduction on their income tax of up to $1,250 for the expenses incurred in adoption of a child.

"At the present time a tax deduction is allowed for certain medical expenses connected with childbirth," Fish said. "The costs of adoption on the other hand are generally not tax deductible."

McHUGH

Congressman McHugh has co-sponsored legislation to provide home health care for many elderly and disabled persons now confined to nursing homes.

McHugh contends that "many of our elderly and disabled could be leading more productive and enjoyable lives at home but they are prevented from doing so by the undue emphasis on institutionalization that is written into our health laws."

"A Message of Hope"

WOODSTOCK

Recent events in far-off Saudi Arabia have held a particular interest for writer Peter Moscosso of Wiley Lane, Woodstock. Moscosso has been a good friend of His Royal Highness (Crown Prince) Saud Faisal since the early 1960's when the Woodstock resident and the nephew of the late King Faisal were classmates at Princeton University. Both were also fellow members of the Ivy Club on campus, one of the eating clubs that takes the place of fraternities there.

Saudi Arabia's royal family, says Moscosso, has a close association with Princeton, since two younger brothers of H.R.H. Saud Faisal also went to Princeton. Moscosso describes the Crown Prince as "very, very rich, very friendly and highly intelligent," and as one who has retained his friendships with his Princeton classmates.

When Woodstocker Moscosso learned, along with the rest of the world, of the assassination of King Faisal, he wrote his former Princeton colleague, giving him his condolences. This week, when H.R.H. Saud Faisal was named Minister of State for Foreign Affairs for Saudi Arabia, Moscosso had the happier task of writing a letter of congratulations.

The Woodstock writer also told the Freeman that among their close circle of friends during the Princeton years, the Arab student from Saudi Arabia was especially close—and still remains so—to a Jewish classmate.

Ford Vacation Footnotes

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Footnotes to President Ford's Palm Springs vacation that historians will ignore at their own peril:

—Inspecting an oil well rig at the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve Monday, Ford bent over a metal bit —the teeth of the shaft digging the hole —and asked, "What is the bit made of?" There followed a noticeable period of silence before a Navy oil expert tried: "Various materials, sir."

—The entrance to the walled Thunderbird Villas, in which Ford's $100-a-day vacation house is located, has a guardhouse and a gate equipped with five-inch steel spikes on the roadway that will shred the tires of any unauthorized vehicle trying to enter.

—American crowds are usually as protocol conscious as diplomats. Thus it was with surprise that reporters covering Ford's appearance Monday at the Bakersfield, Calif., airport heard voices in the crowd addressing the chief executive by his last name only. Sample shouts: "Hang in there, Ford ... we're with you, Ford ... Hey, Hi, Ford."

—A presidential aide, explaining that household chores in the Ford vacation house were being done by help flown in from the White House, said, "We do not call them, ah, er, servants. We refer to them as stewards."

—Elk Hills oil rig roughneck David Clark, asked by Ford if he was working hard, said, "Gosh, yes. After all I get paid $7.50 an hour, the fastest way to make money."

—La Jolla banker-businessman Leon Parma and his wife, vacation house guests of the Fords, have visited here each Easter holiday with the President and his wife the past nine years. Mrs. Parma's great grandfather McCullum founded Palm Springs.

—As vice president a year ago, Ford vacationed on the 250-acre multimillion dollar estate of publisher and former ambassador to Britain Walter Annenberg. Ford played his host's private 18-hole golf course but was displeased, friends say, when his club dug several divots in the manicured grass and immediately Annenberg men rushed up and began tamping down grass and looking accusingly at the then vice president.

—Local residents report Ford is not drawing the sightseeing crowds in Palm Springs that mustered for visits by former President Richard Nixon, but Sunday Ford got one loud street corner cheer from a squad of the Hells Angels motorcycle band, whose clubhouse lies along the Ford motorcade route to the golf course.

—Ford smiled bravely when a mountainous man at the Bakersfield airport gleefully tried to crush his hand in his paw. After Ford rescued his right hand, the man told the chief executive, "I've seen four presidents and I've shuck the hands of three of 'em."

—Memo to naval officer commanding Elk Hill gas plant office 35R: Photographers covering Ford's Elk Hills visit followed his limousine in a yellow bus with a rear door five feet off the ground. They used the door for fast exits. To make it easier, they would drop a chair from the bus and use it as a stepladder. At the gas plant stop a big cameraman jumped on the chair and broke it. After filming Ford, photographers slipped back to the bus, quickly switched their crumpled chair for a fresh model from the gas plant office and all left without Navy officers seeming to notice.

Kissinger Image Losing Luster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The rush of world events in recent weeks has tarnished Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's image as a diplomatic miracle worker.

But Sunday's announcement by the White House that Kissinger has agreed to stay on at least through January, 1977, was no surprise to official Washington.

President Ford had made no secret of his devotion to and admiration of Kissinger, the architect and practical field commander of foreign policy under both the Nixon and Ford administrations.

During his first five years in the heady atmosphere of the White House as national security adviser to the President, Kissinger seemed to have the magic touch in both world diplomacy and the social whirl.

But since he became Secretary of State 18 months ago, things have tended to go downhill for him. Nobody denies his skill as a negotiator but some veteran diplomats here and abroad are beginning to question his ability in the formulation of basic policy.

Kissinger's present position in the decompression chamber, after such a lengthy period of adulation, undoubtedly is uncomfortable and the consensus of observers here is he will never regain his previous luster.

His most immediate problems are in the Middle East, the Persian Gulf and the Mediterranean. But there are time bombs ticking away elsewhere and he ultimately will have to deal with them if he is to regain his stature.

The highly publicized "detente" with the Soviet Union and China is beginning to unravel at the edges. But the flash point now is in the Middle East, where he failed in efforts to get a limited Israeli-Egyptian accord.

The October, 1973, Yom Kippur War broke out just as Kissinger was becoming Secretary of State. He has succeeded, by tremendous effort and neglect of other problems, in arranging an Israeli-Arab military disengagement.

When Kissinger as national security adviser handed the Israeli-Arab conflict over to predecessor as secretary, William Rogers, his aides said he did so because he believed the problem to be insoluble. Thus, there is a certain poetic justice in Kissinger's current dilemma.

Kissinger also is dismayed by his inability to persuade Congress to vote more aid for South Vietnam and Cambodia. He got the Nobel Peace Prize for ending a war that has never stopped. He has found that congressmen reflect majority public sentiment, which wants nothing to do with Southeast Asia now that American servicemen and U.S. prisoners have come home.

Another of his problems is Latin-America, whose U.S. allies are miffed by Kissinger's repeated postponements of trips to South America while he handled more pressing matters.

Diplomats complain the same policy of neglect has been applied to Africa and they predict much trouble there, as well as in Latin America, in the future.

Tax Rebate Measure

"The biggest tax cut since man invented money," might be the description of the tax cut bill signed Easter Sunday eve by President Ford.

Taxpayers, not only in the Hudson Valley, but throughout the United States, will benefit from the $22.8 billion bill.

The many-faceted bill cannot be described in a brief space. However, in addition to substantial income tax reductions, it provides for a wide variety of benefits.

They include a $50 bonus for 34 million Americans receiving Social Security, railroad retirement or federal welfare benefits for the aged and infirm; subtraction of $30 for each family member from the final 1975 tax return; an "earned-income credit" of up to $400 to workers (with children earning up to $8,000, and so on).

President Ford, who several months ago started the ball rolling with his announcement of possible tax rebates, put his signature on the bill—with some misgivings. He labeled the measure flawed and potentially inflationary, saying Congress had left him in a hopeless "take it or leave it" situation of urgent economic necessity.

Kingston and the Mid-Hudson area have taken a back seat to no other parts of the country during the recent economic slump. We hope that this tax rebate measure will go a long way towards stabilizing the economy. It's a good joint effort by our lawmakers and we are elated that for one of the few times in recent memory, they acted, not just talked.

ERA Knockdown

When the South Carolina House of Representatives tabled the proposed Equal Rights Amendment, that doomed its chances of ratification by the required 38 states, this year. The blow is not a knockout, however, but a knockdown. All signs indicate that after a year of setbacks the amendment's champions will be back stronger than ever in 1976.

Proponents were to some extent caught off base by the vehemence of the opposition that surfaced in state legislatures this time around. Having already won ratification in 34 states, they appeared to slack off a bit.

It appears almost certain that they will not repeat this mistake. Merely calling upon women's groups and others to return to the fight with renewed vigor will not suffice, however. Somehow, those who favor this amendment guaranteeing the sexes equality under the law will have to be galvanized into a more effective effort than they mounted this year.

The amendment is a necessary step in the long process of assuring all citizens equal rights. But those who want that step taken had better start work at once on their over-the-top-in-1976 campaign.

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—It's difficult to determine whether Graham Martin, the American ambassador to South Vietnam, is working for the United States or for Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu's government.

The ascerbic Martin, whose undiplomatic outbursts have become legendary, has been in constant hot water with Congress for his staunch defense of the Thieu regime.

One of his cables to the State Department, for example, suggested it would be the "height of folly" to give "an honest and detailed answer" to questions from Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., about foreign aid.

We have now obtained Martin's cables on the issue of political prisoners. He received instructions, which went out to embassies around the world, to determine whether local leaders had been jailed for political purposes.

Characteristically, Martin accepted as gospel the South

Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Envoy—For Washington or Saigon

Vietnamese government's denials that it held any political prisoners. Yet the State Department specifically instructed him not to go to his host government for the prisoner information.

Cabled Martin: "The GVN (Government of Vietnam) has for over a year been the target of a well coordinated campaign to tar it with the political prisoner brush."

"The central theme, ceaselessly repeated in the press and other publication circulating in the United States and Western Europe is that the GVN is detaining 200,000 persons solely for their opposition to the Thieu administration. The charge is not true."

How did he know? He had asked the Thieu government, which had told him so. Continued Martin:

"The embassy has received scores of letters from members of Congress, from U. S. citizens and from organizations like Amnesty International demanding release of alleged political prisoners. In many cases, the correspondents name the prisoner in question. The embassy has checked many of these names with the Ministry of Interior. We have yet to find a documented case of a 'political prisoner.'"

Yet remarkably, visiting U. S. lawmakers have succeeded in locating several prisoners who have been jailed and tortured for opposing Thieu. Indeed, Martin tried to obstruct the legislators from getting the truth about the prisoners.

For example, three House members—Don Fraser, D-Minn., Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., and Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J.—interviewed a prisoner named Huynh Tan Mam who had been thrown in the slammer for allegedly conspiring with Communists. He had been tortured so badly that he had to be hauled into court on a stretcher.

Mam swore to the Americans that he was not guilty of the charges against him. He had been beaten badly, he said, in the presence of South Vietnamese officials. As the three legislators started to leave, Mam slipped them a letter written in blood.

A Fraser aide, Robert Boettcher, spoke with a girl who said she had been picked up "at random" from a marketplace crowd and had been imprisoned for eight months. She had been accused of being a Communist and had been tortured.

Another former political prisoner told Boettcher he had been "jabbed with sharp bamboo sticks" and had been smeared with "human excrement" while he was penned up.

During a meeting with President Thieu, Congressman Fraser requested permission to visit the 18 journalists who were recently jailed. He wanted to see them in private, he said, without any government officials present.

Thieu hemmed and hawed, but Ambassador Martin agreed to make the arrangements. But when Fraser showed up at police headquarters, he was given three ground rules:

1. He was not to discuss controversial issues with the prisoners; 2. He could ask them only for their names, dates of birth and state of health; and 3. He would be accompanied by government officials.

Fraser was so incensed, according to eye witnesses, that he "got red in the face" and dispatched an aide to contact Graham Martin. Back came the aide with word that Martin hadn't even bothered to make any arrangements.

The Saigon embassy has assured the State Department, by telegram, meanwhile, that denunciation of the Thieu regime in print "is solid evidence that Saigon press continues to exercise very substantial measure of press freedom."

WIDOW VS. COMPUTER: An 88-year-old widow, who was about to lose all her property in a battle with an Internal Revenue Service computer, has appealed to us for help.

The computer insists that Mrs. Helen M. Loan, one of the original settlers of Lake Soap, Wash., owes a tax debt that, in fact, she has paid.

It started out as a $27,879.54 estate tax, which was paid by check Oct. 16, 1974. But the IRS computer refused to take notice of the check and continued to dun her. Each time, penalties were added until the debt reached $29,198.79.

Finally, a cryptic notice warned that the IRS would confiscate her property and life savings "with no further notice to you" unless she paid up within 10 days.

An IRS spokesman, Dick Whiteman, admitted an error had been made and attributed the foul-up to "misdirected correspondence." He assured us that he "will do something to resolve this problem immediately."

"Well, back to the drawing board!"

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON—Despite publicly refusing to assess blame for the collapse of mediation efforts in the Middle East, President Ford's private reaction of hurt and anger at Israel now threatens relations between the U.S. and Israel more seriously than at any time during 27 years of unique friendship.

This spontaneous response inside the Oval Office to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's failure may not last. But President Ford's private bitterness must now be reckoned a wholly new, wholly unexpected factor as Israel faces overwhelming world pressure (at the forthcoming Geneva conference) to get off conquered Arab lands.

Rightly or wrongly, Mr. Ford now feels that the government of Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin treated him, personally, "with contempt" at a time of American decline in the world by allowing Kissinger's mediation effort to collapse.

That explains Mr. Ford's assertion, in his now celebrated letter to Rabin, that he is reassessing U.S. policy toward Israel, with obvious implications for Israel's requested $2.59 billion in new U.S. aid. The President's letter and anger could be contrived pressure to force greater Israeli concessions. But it also poses for Israel a dangerous new arm's length relationship with its only ally while facing a hostile Geneva conference packed with enemies.

Presidential aides with precise knowledge of Oval Office thinking have sketched a scenario of Israel's political plans for the immediate future which deepens the American gloom of fallen world power in Vietnam, Cambodia, Turkey, Portugal and Cyprus.

The White House scenario: Israel sees the American presidency in a state of decline and dares not risk its own security by withdrawing from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula, as President Ford wants, without commitments Egypt refuses to give. Hence, the Israeli government made a conscious decision to retain the Sinai passes and oil fields and instead make an end run:

take its fight directly to the overwhelmingly Democratic Congress and American public opinion, thereby warding off White House pressure through reduced U.S. aid to Israel.

Whether Kissinger himself subscribes to that scenario is not known today. What is known is that Gerald Ford believes in it, holding that view with tenacity. He feels, according to one close observer during the latest Kissinger shuttle diplomacy, that Israel treated him "with contempt" at a moment he could ill afford it.

"Jerry Ford is not one to get angry easily," one insider told us, "but he is angry now."

That anger was obvious

when Mr. Ford bluntly informed the bipartisan congressional leaders that the U.S. aid to Israel was being reappraised as part of a massive Mideast policy reassessment. Possibly because of that anger, not one question was asked—even from such friends of Israel as Rep. Philip Burton of California, powerful boss of the House Democratic caucus, and New Jersey's liberal Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case.

Such silence is unlikely to persist, however. Rather, there are early indications of the Israeli end-run around the White House to Congress, via the potent pro-Israeli U.S. lobby, forecast by Mr. Ford. When the talks collapsed in Jerusalem Saturday, Israel's ambassador to the U.S., Simcha Dinitz, flew directly to

New York City, not to Washington, for private meetings with key figures in the American-Jewish community.

Moreover, within hours of publication by the Israeli press of Mr. Ford's tough letter to Rabin, its text was demanded from the White House by a top aide of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, Israel's most active ally in the senate.

Responsibility for the confrontation between the White House and the Rabin government at the moment of Israel's gravest need for American help does not lie wholly in Jerusalem. Some friends of Israel here can provide persuasive documentation that the President's letter to Rabin boomeranged, causing the Israeli cabinet to stiffen under the implied threat.

But such "who struck John" formulations serve little purpose today. The hard fact is that President Ford privately blames Israel far more than Egypt for Kissinger's latest failure, a personal affront which threatens new difficulties for both Israel and the United States at a time when neither nation can afford them.

"WATCH OUT, MR. PRESIDENT — IT'S ONE OF THOSE PIE-THROWING HIT MEN!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter For the Love of Boats

Men who own seagoing boats are conscious suckers. They know that buying one is a matter of abstract dollars carried to the third power. The reason a boat is called "she" is because boats are akin to kept women: The original price may not sink you, but the upkeep will.

Joey Bishop bought a beautiful yacht and thought he could save money by keeping it tied to a dock. "I've got the cost down to $20 a wave," he says. Jack Paar, a Dogger Bank type, wouldn't go for more than a 30-footer. I advised him and Miriam that they would have more fun on a 45-footer, but the king of the nervousness said it would be too big for him and Miriam to handle.

Jim Knight, a newspaper publisher, has the right idea. He and Mrs. Knight go to sea in a yacht, trailed by a sports fisherman boat. When the game fish gather, they transfer from yacht to fishing boat and back again. Don't tell this old sailor that this isn't living.

Over a span of years, I have had five boats. I used to sail from Jersey to Fire Island inlet, fishing for fighting bluefish. Within 10 years, I learned a lesson: The more complex the boat, the more things can go wrong.

The difference between a rowboat with a pair of oars and a yacht is the difference between flying a kite and flying to the moon. Jack Sullivan, Marine Commissioner of New Jersey, had a good boat at Point Pleasant. He hired a captain with a bad memory—he forgot to repair the ship-to-shore phone and sailed to sea without putting fuel in the boat.

At San Diego, I saw a well-charged millionaire come in slowly from Point Loma, his frightened wife on the bow with a shore line in her hands and, as he approached the dock, he made a slight error. He couldn't remember reverse engines from forward, so the steel yacht went right through a wooden pier, with his wife shrieking in flying lumber.

A couple of vandals sunk my Hatteras, the "Kelly," at the dock a few years ago. I gave up boating. Then the impossible happened.

Marie and Walter Lehmann Jr. bought a 38-foot Egg Harbor, sailed it in Florida waters, and left it at my dock. Boat owners do not lend boats. They said, "Help yourself. We'll pick it up in May."

This craft has everything. It's a big, teak-trimmed fiberglass craft with living room, rug, FM radio, comfortable bunks for six, a flying bridge, and twin ummies diesels. It has a 12-volt electrical switchboard which would defy the genius of Steinmetz.

If, by mistake, the skipper hits the wrong button, buzzers drill through his ears. Practicing slowly through enclosed waters, the "Sunnyside Up" and I began to learn a few things about each other. Her engines will turn up 3,000 RPMs but a setting of 2,700 will bring the hull on top and she will cast the waves aside in veils of foam and do 14-15 knots for 25 hours without exhausting the fuel tanks.

We wash her down more than we run her because it isn't our baby. Kelly and I promised ourselves that we would wait until after Karen's wedding, and then take her to the Bahamas for big game fishing and a 14th honeymoon. Of the three, I know that one of us is ready.

If I develop the nerve, we may run her to Bimini for Gulf Stream fishing, then down to Key West to meet some friends and troll wahoo. These run 24 to 50 lbs. and can outspeed a Navy destroyer. Sometimes, when they hit the bait, you feel that the back of the boat is going to fall off.

One more thing: When you speak of boats, there is a lot of difference between "pretty" and "seaworthy." Some of the most gorgeous boats I've seen rock like a drunk in a phone booth if you spit over the side. Others, fat and slow, with dep V-bows, will take to a heavy running sea as though it is the start of a great love affair.

Louis Prima once bought a 55-foot Constellation in New York. When he got aboard, he asked me, "Which way is the ocean?" He was going to sail from New York to New Orleans. Two days later, the Navy reported a white yacht halfway between their battleships and the targets off Norfolk. They towed Prima in.

Mrs. Bishop and I have a good working relationship on a boat. I stand on the flying bridge as Captain Bligh. She is on the main deck as Mrs. Christian. When I blast the big twin horns, she turns to one of our girls and says, "Go up and see what Captain Hornblower wants."

Expensive? The late J.P. Morgan was asked how much he paid for his big, black ocean-going Corsair. "If you must ask price," he said sagely, "don't ever buy a boat."

Sr. Citizen Activities

Editor The Freeman:

If a door is left open, ideas are free to drop in at any time. In gratitude for an excellent Holy Saturday dinner put on by my missus, I was washing the dishes. I had just dunked the first of the pots when an idea spotted my welcome mat and slipped in. The thought had to do with sharing a good thing with others, which inspired this letter.

Our group may be referred to as elderly, but they don't feel that way. They feel there's nothing attractive about imitating log bumps. So they're always trying to do things better and to better things by doing more. To this end we put together a questionnaire to learn what new things we could do, over and above the ever-popular bus trips to interesting places and monthly bingo games. Slightly less than half of the membership, ninety to be exact, filled out the questionnaire at our March meeting. That day the rains came down, so attendance was also down. But this summary of member preference may very well benefit other senior citizen groups:

Twenty-four percent drive their own cars. Fifty-two percent live alone. Sixty-one percent would like to learn more about Medicare coverage. Sixty-eight percent do not favor a county Office for the Aging.

Other than travel and bingo, the most popular activities, in descending order, were other games, professional entertainment, community singing, ceramics, needle craft, birthday parties, speakers, painting, square dancing, creative jewelry, social dancing, making surgical dressings, weaving, current events, health education and nutrition.

It must be true that kindness is one thing you can't give away, that it always comes back. I got to do the dishes after Easter dinner, too.

Please Return Coat

Editor The Freeman:
It is a shame people cannot go out for an evening without having their belongings taken.

My daughter was at the Red Baron Discotheque Friday night and while dancing a person or persons relieved her of her leather coat. It would be nice if they returned it as soon as possible and renewed my faith in people.

Thank you.
Yours truly,
MRS. M. VAN EXEL

(To all School Superintendents, County School Board members.) Editor, The Freeman:

Would you please openly tell the public why you will not support the original budget recommendations of the Ulster County Task Force, for services for the Retarded Children at BOCES, Rosendale School.

As I understand it, you say you cannot afford to have a music teacher, an art teacher or a physical education teacher. Why do you feel these children only need a speech therapist two days a week instead of four days a week? Why do you feel there should not be an aide for each teacher? Why can't they have a nurse-teacher for one day a week? It's obvious that you do not have a retarded child or you would want these services for your child the same as you give them to the normal child. How would you feel if these services were taken away or not given to the normal children? Every one of these services are very important to these children. It is a state law that all children in New York State have physical education by a certified teacher. But for our children they find loopholes. The physical education program is extremely important for these children because in order for them to grow mentally, they have to grow physically.

Kingston gives all these services to their retarded children at Emma Wygant School. All normal children in all schools have these services. Tell me, gentlemen, how do you justify all these services for normal children and not for the retarded children at BOCES, Rosendale?

The Saugerties School Superintendent and Saugerties School Board have openly supported this program. I plead with the rest of the districts to go along with Saugerties and give our children what they need and what is given to normal children automatically.

Sincerely yours,
FAYE MANN,
Saugerties

Clermont Site Open To School Tours

Personnel at Clermont Historic Site, above Tivoli on the Hudson River, are scheduling school groups from late April through the end of June. Clermont, under the aegis of the Taconic State Parks Commission, is the former home of the Livingston family, prominent nationally in the 18th century. Because of interior restoration work being done, as well as replacement of exterior stucco and slate roof, tours will be conducted on the grounds overlooking the river. Clermont is open to the general public later this season.

Defends Painting

Editor, the Freeman:

Rudi Hohenberger Jr. recently had a letter to the editor concerning what he called a 'deplorable' photo. It was a photo of a painting that was being shown at a museum in Illinois. It's of a beautiful young lady sitting on a chair. She seems to have a fine body. This I can clearly see for she wears no clothing.

I am well educated in the field of art. I learned to paint nudes when I attended art school at the age of fourteen. The Sun is wonderful for our bodies. Whenever I can, I sunbathe in the nude. It's a great feeling and not one to be ashamed of.

If people would start worrying about other important things such as rib-showing refugees, highway manners and their own bodies it would be a better world. I don't know of any physical culturist who would criticize a painting such as the one in the Freeman on March 20. After all, isn't Physical culture still good for one's body or is that called being a 'Commie' these days?

One more reminder. I have never seen a child born with a set of clothes on. If a person doesn't like the human body, then let him speak to the manufacturer. The next thing they will be doing is putting tuxedos on horses.

Sincerely,
George Montgomery,
Rosendale

Fire Dept. Praise

Editor, The Freeman:

I am writing this letter for I feel it has been unfair how much bad publicity the Kingston Fire Department has received. On Sunday, the 23, there was a fire at my house on Albany Ave. By the time I had hung up the phone reporting the fire I could already hear the sirens. Within minutes the fire department arrived. Coming originally from New York City, I had never seen a fire department be so considerate of my and my neighbor's property. The fire was handled carefully and with as little destruction as possible. Consideration was also paid to the inside of my house which has just been totally renovated. Any smoke from the house was cleared carefully and as the epitome of a great job the firemen temporarily patched my roof with tar paper to prevent any water from leaking in. I for one must congratulate the fire department on a job well done and certainly appreciate them for the job they are doing. Everyone concerned was both considerate and careful and I certainly did not want this to go unnoticed.

Very truly yours,
ROY F. SKLARIN
Kingston

REP. McHUGH AND FREEMAN STAFFER LYNN MULVANEY

McHugh's 'Personal Approach'

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

In an effort to "personalize" his role as congressman, Rep. Matthew McHugh (D-27th Dist.) came back to Ulster County Tuesday to listen to the people and impart some of his views on such vital issues as:

- The tax cut bill and the economy.
- The role of the United States in Southeast Asia.
- Kissinger and wiretaps.
- Veterans bitterness about South Vietnam's impending fall to communism.

McHugh sees the tax bill as "a necessary stimulus at this time—intended to help the lower and middle class income brackets."

Saying he was pleased that President Gerald Ford signed the measure, the Ithaca feels the move will get the economy back on its feet and is far less inflationary than the President's energy proposal. He called it "a proper approach", accomplished with record speed.

McHugh cautioned that large government deficits risk inflation but pointed out that in the short run, the bill will stimulate the economy, create jobs and risk "some" inflation.

Deeply moved by the suffering of the South Vietnamese, the former Tompkins district attorney expressed surprise at the way the South Vietnamese Army has collapsed calling it hard to understand in view of the more than $100 billion the U.S. has spent for their cause during the past 20 years.

"There is a lack of will for the Vietnamese Army to hold the line and that is tragic," he declared adding that the United States has a responsibility but "only to help in a humanitarian way."

"I don't think Congress is willing to provide additional arms," McHugh said.

"It is ludicrous for the U.S. government to suggest that $300 million more would help. The government of South Vietnam has had more than enough opportunity to succeed," he suggested.

McHugh said that while he does not want the United States to be in a position where it would enhance a communist government takeover, it should attempt a realistic accommodation with a new government in hopes of bringing some stability to the area.

Recognizing that perhaps his constituency is more conservative on the whole than he is, McHugh nevertheless said that since our men have pulled out of Southeast Asia, the people seem more concerned about military aid to South Vietnam and want U.S. dollars spent at home.

Regarding the apparent bitterness and frustration now being experienced by U.S. war veterans, McHugh said he can readily understand but explained that during World War II "we were fighting for values" but in the Vietnam and Cambodian conflicts "it was not so clear. The Thieu government is repressive and does not represent freedom," he said.

Regarding former White House aide H. R. Haldemann's contention that Henry Kissinger had a hand in wiretapping newsmen and the White House staff, McHugh said he "did not know" if Kissinger had a part adding that the wiretapping is one of the "sadder chapters in our nation's history."

Eager to relate the accomplishments of the new Democratically-controlled Congress, he lauded committee system reforms now making it impossible to continue to have legislation blocked.

He told of new legislation which would provide $6 billion to create 900,000 jobs through Manpower for public service employees.

Another measure would provide money to subsidize interest rates on home mortgages at six and seven percent rather than the present 8 1/2 percent in New York.

McHugh also told of impending legislation which would provide 100 percent aid to states and communities for public works facilities, if the federal government determines that the money will produce employment in areas where needed.

The congressman was in Ulster County to appear as a guest on an Ellenville radio talk show, hold a press conference in Kingston, take a break for lunch with Freeman Managing Editor Edward Palladino and be at his part-time local office in Woodstock from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Later in the afternoon he met with the faculty at State University College at New Paltz, attended a dinner meeting with editors and reporters from area weeklies and also appeared at a town meeting in Rosendale in the evening. He returns to Washington, D.C. April 7.

Gas Dealer to Area Consumers: 'Do Us a Favor, Boycott Us'

KINGSTON

William Bryant, who owns a Gulf station on Ulster Avenue Mall and operates an Exxon station on Washington Avenue Extension, has called on Ulster County gasoline consumers to boycott his own stations — as well as other name-brand outlets — to force the major oil companies to revise pricing policies that are forcing many dealers to the brink of bankruptcy.

"Go to the independents and buy gas," suggests Bryant, "do us a favor and boycott us. It's true that we'll be hurting ourselves, but we need some drastic action to change the situation."

According to Bryant, the major oil companies are selling gasoline to their own retailers at one price and then selling whatever is left over — and there's plenty of it — to the independent distributors for a lower price. The difference is reflected in pump prices throughout the area.

In early March, a Freeman survey noted that independent dealers (Hess, Gasland, Caldor, etc.) were selling gas, on the average, for four cents less than the name-brand outlets (Mobil, Shell, Sunoco, Gulf, etc.). The difference has widened slightly in the three weeks since then, and is expected to continue into the summer.

Bryant, and many of his fellow dealers, are convinced that the unequal pricing policies are just one facet of a larger oil company scheme to force dealers out of business.

"The handwriting is on the wall," said Bryant, who is also president of the Gasoline Retailers Association of Ulster County, "the oil companies are trying to squeeze the independent dealers out of business so they can move in and take over the prime sites themselves. Why should the dealers get a seven or eight cent profit on a gallon of gasoline when the company can run the station and get the profit itself?"

Underselling their own dealers, Bryant charges, is not the only method the oil companies are using to force increasingly vocal and obdurate dealers out of business.

"We're forced to pay exorbitant rents just to stay where we are," he said, "and it's not uncommon for an oil company to raise the rent just to force us out."

Bryant said he pays more than $1,000 a month in rent for his Exxon station, as well as being required to foot the bill for utilities, prop erty taxes, maintenance, sewage disposal and payroll expenses. He also has to pay a monthly fee for the rotating "logo" signs outside the station and must purchase credit card printers himself, even though they're required by the company.

All this, says Bryant, cuts deeply into profits. "I have to post a price of 49.9 cents a gallon just to break even at the Gulf station," he said, "the independents are charging less than that, and still making a profit."

Bryant feels that a consumer boycott of the major stations may change the thinking of the oil companies and might spur legislative action to cure some of the inequities. "If anything, we're hoping it will create some public arousalment," he commented, "the consumers can help us put an end to this treatment."

Single Police Force

NEW PALTZ

The police departments of the town and village of New Paltz became a single entity on Tuesday under terms of an agreement reached earlier this year by the two governmental bodies.

Operating under the name "New Paltz Police Department", the consolidated force has an authorized strength of 14 men.

The controversial merger of the two departments had long been sought, but it was not until January of this year that the town and village governments were able to come to terms over the consolidation.

The department is being administered by a jointly-chosen three-member police commission.

The commission is currently in the process of interviewing candidates for chief of police. Richard W. Lent, a member of the commission, said it is not known when a new chief will be chosen.

Under terms of the agreement, the positions of John F. Taylor, the town's director of public safety, and Harold T. Bowers, village police chief, were eliminated.

As the search for a police chief goes on, Lawrence Mermell, a retired major with the New York State Police, is serving as interim police chief and former town patrolman Frank Melendez is serving as acting sergeant in charge.

It is anticipated, according to Lent, that the differently marked town and village police cars will soon be re-marked and repainted. The department uniform will be similar to the brown uniforms of the former town police department, he added.

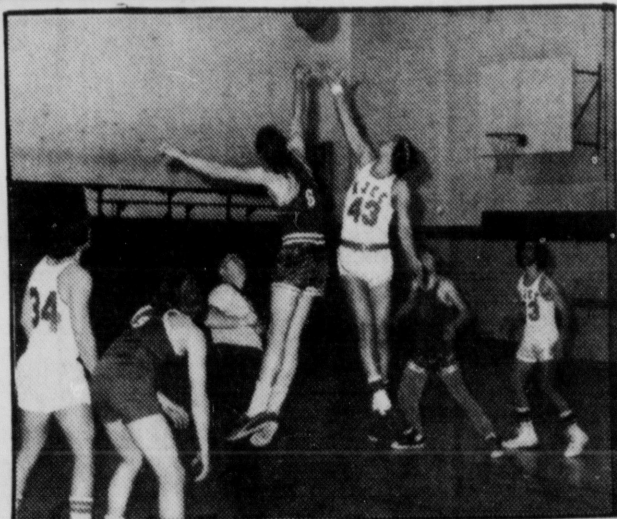

Costs are being shared equally by the town and village.

Area Business News

EMANUELE WRITES UP JOB

Firm Plans Events

Joe Emanuele, president of Dynamic Auto Body Inc., on Route 9W North, has scheduled several events to celebrate the firm's 10th anniversary.

Visitors will have an opportunity to see some of the most modern body work equipment in action at an open house to be held Saturday, April 12, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with tours of the shop and refreshments.

The public may stop in and register for three awards to be presented at the open house. Page 11.

New Publishers for Rondout Times

STONE RIDGE
The Rondout Valley Times, a weekly newspaper serving the area south of Kingston, has been acquired by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olguin of Stone Ridge and New York City. The new publishers took over the paper with the April 2 issue.

According to the new publishers, coverage of local news in the townships of Marletown, Rochester and Rosendale will continue to be the main concern of the newspaper, but there will be more editorial involvement in county, state and national issues.

With the new ownership, the paper has taken on a "new look," with a new masthead and a number of new features and new contributing editors.

Olguin, who is a writer specializing on energy and environmental subjects, will also take on the duties of a feature editor.

Karen Lally, who has been editor of the Rondout Valley Times for the past several years, will continue in that capacity.

The newspaper was purchased by the Olguins from the Rondout Valley Publishing Co. Inc. of Ellenville. Olguin said the Times will continue to be printed by the Ellenville firm and that the editorial offices will at present remain at their location in Ellenville.

Six Homes Closed

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The State Health Department has ordered the closing of six nursing homes and fined another $1,000 for denying entrance to department inspectors last January.

Operators of the homes, all in Westchester County, had violated the public health law in refusing to admit duly authorized representatives of the department to inspect their facilities, acting Health Commissioner Robert P. Whalen said Tuesday night.

Four of the homes, the Furman Nursing Home and Kruger Nursing Home, both in New Rochelle, Barbara Lucille Nursing Home in Mount Vernon and the Miramichi Nursing Home in White Plains, were given until April 30 to transfer their patients and surrender their operating certificates, Whalen said.

The Waldean Nursing Home and Dean Manor Nursing Home, both in White Plains, were given until May 12 to close their doors.

Mrs. Robert Myhrall, operator of Lincoln Manor Nursing Home in Ossining, was fined $1,000 after the administrator of the home relented on the original refusal to admit inspectors.

Whalen said the actions taken against the seven homes were "based solely on their refusal to allow entrance to department inspection personnel."

'What's Going On in That Mansion?'

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Martin T. Carey, brother of New York Gov. Hugh Carey, says he was "highly indignant" when he learned that a 62-room mansion he owns here has been used as the setting for a new skinflck by the director of "Deep Throat."

In a statement released through his office Tuesday, Carey said unnamed "intermediaries" had "totally misrepresented" the planned use of the French Renaissance style mansion.

Carey says he has given orders that the filmmakers be ordered out of the mansion.

Gerard Damiano, director of "Deep Throat" and "The Devil in Miss Jones," was filming his newest creation in Seaview Terrace, a spacious, castle-like mansion on Rugles Avenue, one of the many fabled mansions in this resort by the sea.

A man outside the French Renaissance style mansion, who said he was a member of the film crew, told reporters Tuesday filming was discontinued because of publicity. However, cars with New York license plates and rental vans were still outside the mansion in the afternoon.

The man also insisted the film was not pornographic and was suitable for a television audience.

A police spokesman said he was unaware if the film crew was leaving. "We really don't have anything to do with what's going on over there. It's really none of our business," he said.

The building was bought by Martin T. Carey last fall for $270,000. The mansion was built in 1926 for $2 million. Carey is the sixth owner of the mansion which has three tennis courts, an Olympic-sized swimming pool and a 16-room stone gatehouse.

"I have no idea what has been going on," said Patrick Hayes, Carey's local attorney. Last September, Carey told the local zoning board he intended to use the mansion as a school for business executives. No mention was made of renting the seven acre estate.

Police Promotion Listed

ALBANY
New York State Police Superintendent William E. Kirwan has announced the promotion of a High Falls man to commissioned officer rank.

Senior BCI investigator Edward V. Whalen, now assigned to the Troop F station at Ellenville is being promoted to the rank of lieutenant and will be assigned to Troop K, Poughkeepsie. The change will become effective April 3.

Senior Investigator Whalen entered the state police in 1959 and served in Troop C at Sidney and Troop D at Oneida before being assigned to Troop F.

Promoted to sergeant in 1964, Whalen served five years as a BCI investigator before his promotion to senior investigator in 1973.

Born in Jamaica, Queens, the new lieutenant is a graduate of Delaware Valley Central School and attended the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy and the State University of New York at Albany. He received an associate degree in Business Administration last year from Ulster County Community College.

He and his wife live with their two sons in High Falls.

New Paltz Hosts Seminar

NEW PALTZ
A seminar on careers in mental health emphasizing educational services was held recently at the State University College at New Paltz, sponsored by the college's Career Planning and Placement Office and the Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

Don Crank, a graduate student in psychology and a child care worker at St. Cabrini Home in West Park, quoted Dr. B. F. Skinner the noted behavior modification psychologist, remarking that a person should be given just enough help to get started. He emphasized the importance of combining education with experience and urged students to get as much experience as possible through volunteer work.

Judy Dietz, team leader at the Wassa Developmental Center, emphasized the interdisciplinary nature of her team and the need for programs in various facilities. She stressed the need to go looking for opportunities which may turn up, interesting jobs outside the educational orientation.

Laura Fleigner, a learning disabilities teacher at the New Paltz Middle School, said the economic crunch is bad news, but the good news is that there are learning disabilities jobs. She stressed how to interview, a good resume, and the willingness to work hard and to learn.

Harry McMahon, guidance counselor at the New Paltz Middle School, outlined how a student could move from a bachelor of arts in psychology, sociology or special education and work on the required 60 credit masters to become a school psychologist or counselor. He suggested maintaining contact with college friends as they move into various fields, preparing a good resume, and not underestimating yourself.

The next seminar will emphasize community services. It is slated for Wednesday, April 23.

Hudson River Oil Spill Cleanup

Clean-up operations continued Tuesday after an oil tanker hit a submerged object causing a 30,000 gallon spill in the Hudson River near Albany. The tanker Colorado left Albany Monday, still with the hole in its bottom, for Galveston, Tex. for repairs. (UPI)

Campaigns Begin In Portugal

LISBON (UPI) — Campaigns for Portugal's first free elections in 49 years opened today in a festive atmosphere, but there were official warnings of possible violence.

Gangs of youths papered Lisbon's walls with party posters and the liberal Popular Democratic party staged a public songfest.

In the south, the Socialist party held a mass rally in the port town of Faro.

The April 25 balloting is for representatives to a 247-man constituent assembly charged with writing a constitution for a presidential-style government to be elected later this year.

Six million Portuguese are registered to vote in the elections, which will come one year after the military coup d'etat that overthrew almost a half century of rightwing dictatorship.

Portugal has since swung to the left, its cabinet now including Communists and their allies in key economic and interior posts.

In its final pre-campaign communique, the national election commission Tuesday warned groups and individuals against disrupting the campaigns.

"The national election commission vehemently condemns such occurrences and appeals for tranquility and mutual respect that should be the hallmark of the political process," it said.

The military's revolutionary council earlier this week decreed that anyone convicted of trying to break up political rallies would be jailed eight years and fined up to $4,000.

The moves reflected fears of the parties and the country's left-wing military rulers that the campaigns would accelerate the violence plaguing political activities the past two months.

At least one person has been killed.

Bradley Recovering

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Omar Bradley, the nation's only surviving five-star general, will apparently recover completely from a stroke last month and subsequent brain surgery, UCLA Medical Center said Tuesday.

There is still no indication when the general, 82, will be able to leave the hospital, a spokesman said. He was removed from the intensive care unit Sunday where he had been under treatment since a small hole was drilled in his skull last Wednesday to remove a clot.

Bradley, field commander of the U.S. troops who landed at Normandy and fought their way into the heart of Germany, is the only survivor of the five generals and four admirals who were given five-star rank — authorized only in wartime — to hold the top commands in World War II.

Increased Interest In Jenne Magafan's Paintings... Now at UCCC

Interest has revived in the paintings of the late Jenne Magafan, of Woodstock, now being shown in the Visual Arts Gallery at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College. This marks the first exhibition of her work in 22 years.

"There is renewed interest in the paintings of my sister," says her twin, Ethel Magafan, of Woodstock, also an artist, "and because of that we're planning other exhibitions of her work."

Ethel's husband, artist Bruce Curio, also sees greater recognition today in Jenne's work which reflects a strong mood. "I think much of that is because her humanized style of painting is coming into vogue again," he adds.

The paintings will continue on exhibition at UCCC through the end of April. The Visual Arts Gallery, located in John Vanderlyn Hall, is open to the public Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In addition, there will be a special showing Sunday, April 20, from 1 to 4 p.m. and on Saturday, April 26, from ing from Italy, and the last exhibition of her work occurred in 1953 in Albany.

The UCCC exhibition indicates Jenne Magafan's great interest in houses, some being places which she

Ethel said her sister had a special fascination with houses and other buildings and the people associated with those structures. "She treated these structures as good subject matter," ex-

Jenne gives you a feeling of the loneliness of the house after it was vacated," adds Ethel. "She treated it abstractly, but still gives you the feeling for the place."

She pointed out that the exhibition also brings out Jenne's love of people.

One of the paintings, entitled "The Vigil," shows a woman sitting by the window. "It has rich, beautiful color," says Ethel, "and gives you the mood of a person waiting for something. You see it and your imagination starts working. You wonder what the woman was thinking of."

Another painting, "The Three Women," was painted in Italy. "It shows a group of women talking and depicts the brightness of the Italian sunshine.

"I'm amazed at the strength and vitality of my sister's paintings," says Ethel. "They haven't been exhibited for more than 20 years, yet they're not one bit outdated."

Ethel Magafan stands by "The Mother," a painting done by her late sister, Jenne Magafan.

THE DAILY FREEMAN, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1975 19

2 to 5 p.m. where Robert T. Brown is scheduled to be inaugurated as the third president at UCCC.

Jenne Magafan, who was married to artist Edward Chavez, died in 1952 at the age of 36 shortly after return-sketched in Kingston and Catskill.

"Houses to Jenne reflected the people who lived in them," reported artist Curio. "She felt the people gave houses a warmth and human quality they would not have otherwise."

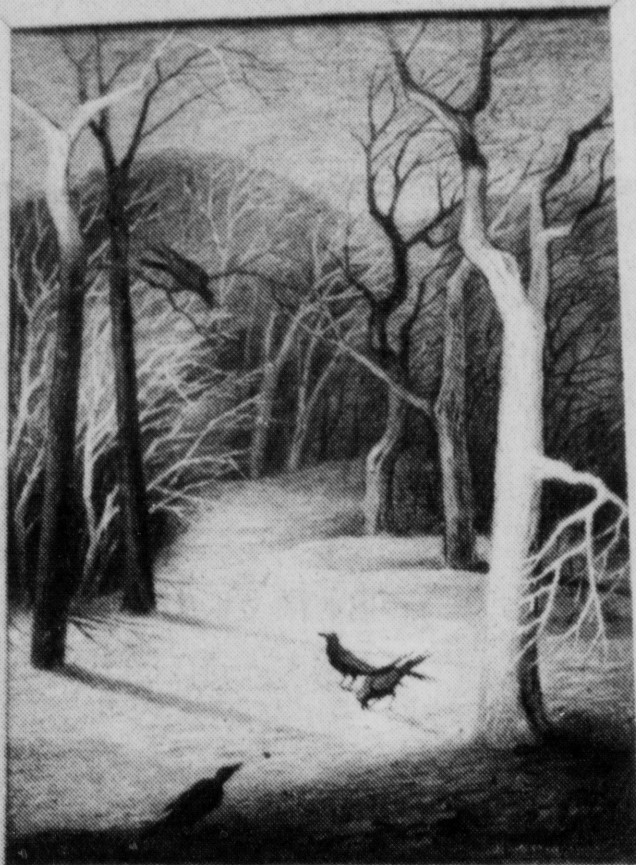

plained Ethel, "and had a great feeling for the presence of people in them."

One of Ethel's favorite paintings in the exhibition titled, "Empty Rooms" shows an empty run-down house. "In her treatment,

Perfect Way to Ruin an Ideal Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren
1975 Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Paul (not his real name) and I have been married for 22 years, and I must say he has been an ideal husband and father. He is loving, sober, generous, and considerate.

About a year ago, Paul started going out every Wednesday night — "with the boys" — or so he says. He never mentions any of the "boys" by name, and I know of no one in our circle of friends who goes with him.

My problem is that Paul refuses to say where he goes — and with whom.

We can never make any plans for Wednesday night, because that is Paul's night out.

Abby, this not knowing where he goes is slowly driving me to distraction. My demands that he tell me, or to cease going, have gotten me nowhere.

I am seriously considering hiring a private detective to follow him, but wonder what harm it could do to our marriage if Paul is innocent of any wrong-doing, and learns that I've had him followed.

What is your advice?
DOUBTING DODO

DEAR DOUBTING: Grow up. You don't have to know where your husband is every minute of his life. Isn't an adult man (or woman) entitled to some real personal freedom without being held accountable for his time 24 hours a day? And wouldn't the hiring of a private detective be the ultimate assault on that freedom, and an insult as well?

If you want to ruin your ideal marriage, just continue to "demand" that your otherwise perfect husband give you an hourly accounting of his time. Or have him followed.

DEAR ABBY: The saying, "live and let live"

Is a tolerant point of view. But Abby, Live and HELP live

Is exactly what you do.

Your wisdom, wit and humor

Is a blessed inspiration. For 19 years of pleasure, My sincere appreciation!

RAE SWIDLER (AGE 91)

Golden Crest

Home: L.A., Calif.

DEAR ABBY: My father is 59, and a retired coal miner on disability.

He bought U.S. Savings Bonds years ago through the payroll office, and kept them at home. Our house burned down 25 years ago, and all the bonds were destroyed. Dad never had copies of the bond numbers.

Is there any way he can trace these numbers? Everyone we talked to says we should forget it.

MRS. P.

DEAR MRS. P.: Don't forget it. Your father should contact his local bank, or the nearest Federal Reserve Bank, and request Form PD 1048.

He should then contact his former employer to help in filling out this form, as sometimes the payroll offices keep records of the serial numbers and dates. Your father should fill out the form in duplicate, keep one copy for himself and send the other to the Bureau of Public Debt (the address is on the form).

It may take a while, but eventually your father will get his bonds.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I was defrosting my deep-freezer one day. I took the food out, pulled the cord, and set a pan of hot water in the freezer, shut the lid and left it for about 25 minutes. I got back to it just in time to pull the thick ice off with my hands and take out the pan of water.

But the "little shrimp" that I am, I couldn't reach to the bottom to wipe up the rest of the water. So I took a new floor mop and just mopped out the freezer. Sure was easy.

Emelia Hettick

Dear Heloise:

Guess what I recycle? Our newspaper comes with a rubber band around it. And on cloudy or rainy days the newspaper boy puts the newspaper in a plastic bag. I save the rubber bands and the plastic bags; and when I have a bunch of them I give them to the paper boy when he comes by to collect.

Do you know that he has to pay for the rubber bands and the plastic bags and newspapers, and doesn't get paid for the newspaper until he collects?

So giving him back the rubber bands and plastic bags helps your newsboy's profit margin. It also helps prevent wasted resources by recycling these things.

Marilyn Miller

God bless Marilyn. You're a livin' doll, honey chile.

Bless you, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I've found a simple way to get ravioli out of the can without breaking them as you dig in with the spoon.

Simply open the can as usual, place the opened end on the bottom of the pan, puncture the other end with a can opener and lift.

The ravioli just oozes right out.

An aerosol tire inflator, with a latex sealer that inflates and seals flat tires in less than a minute.

An emergency blinker with a large suction cup base that you can position on your car top or at roadside.

A high-intensity spotlight with a 12-foot cord that plugs into your cigarette lighter.

Eight-foot booster cables. Six-foot gas siphon pump. A first-aid kit complete with a 25-page first-aid book.

All in a handsome luggage-like carrying case.

The only thing you have to do is sign up for a car loan before June 30, 1975. You don't have to buy the car by then, just sign up for the loan. Chase will reserve the money for you for 100 days, at no charge. You have plenty of time to shop around for a good deal on a new or late model used car. As soon as you find the car, you get your money and your emergency kit.

If you're an electrician, a salesman, a nurse or anybody looking for a practical free gift with your car loan, look into your nearest Chase branch. Who knows? You might even open a practical Chase checking account.

'Finian's Rainbow' To Open In New Paltz

On Sunday, April 13, at 2 p.m., 90 Miles off Broadway will present its matinee performance of "Finian's Rainbow." The musical will be held at New Paltz High School. Evening performances at 8:30 will be given on April 10, 11 and 12.

Members of 90 Miles off Broadway are particularly pleased to present their first matinee performance since it will be an opportunity for the whole family to gather for an afternoon of entertainment.

The box office, located at 107 Main Street, New Paltz, will be open for ticket sales now through 12th, but will be closed on April 7th.

Musical director is Al Rothstein who was also musical director for past successful productions of "South Pacific," "Guys and Dolls," and "Pajama Game."

Mr. Rothstein has a vast musical background and is presently Instrumental Music Director at Wallkill High School. His use of a battery-lighted baton has been a huge asset in directing the orchestra of past productions given by 90 MOB.

The show's choreographer, Diana Banks, has been a professional dancer for many years. Among her credits are her performances in "Sweet Charity" and a revival of "Annie Get Your Gun" at the Lincoln Center. Ms. Banks commutes to Lincoln Center during the winter months for its Holiday Festival and locally hopes to become a member of the Woodstock Playhouse.

Assisting Ms. Banks, is Maxine Bacon. Ms. Bacon has also been a professional dancer for many years. She holds a degree from U.C.L.A., where she was active in the theater department. ## Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: My girl friend is getting married in June. She has asked her 13-year-old cousin and me to be her maids of honor.
I know a bride can have a matron and maid of honor, but I never heard of having two maids of honor.
I would like to know which one of us should walk down the aisle first after the bridesmaids, where we stand on the altar, etc.

Charlene
Dear Charlene: It is very rare indeed to have two maids of honor, and I do not recommend it. It would be better if your friend's 13-year-old cousin were designated a junior bridesmaid.

However, if the bride insists on having you both as maids of honor, you should walk down the aisle together, or, if that is impractical, the young girl should walk behind the bridesmaids and you should precede the bride.
At the altar, you, as the elder, would again take precedence and be the one to stand by the bride, present the ring, hold her flowers, etc.

Dear Mrs. Post: When we were married seven years ago, my husband gave me an engagement ring with a very nice but simple diamond.

Take stock in America.

Now we are comfortably well off, and he wants to buy me a new ring for our next anniversary. Would I be very unsentimental to accept a more expensive engagement ring?

I would love to have it but don't want anyone to think that I consider an engagement ring a symbol of status instead of a symbol of love.

June D.
Dear Mrs. D.: You need have no hesitation about accepting a new ring.

The fact that your husband wants to give you one is truly evidence that his love has lasted. Many men enjoy giving their wives a better ring than the original once they can afford to.

You need not discard your old ring; wear it on your right hand, or, if you prefer, use it for "everyday wear" and put on the new ring when you are dressing up.

Sawyer Bands Boosters Plan Social
Interest in the Sawyer Marching Band has grown to such an extent that the band once more finds itself short of uniforms.
The Sawyer Band Boosters have once again volunteered to raise funds for the needed uniforms. Their most recent project, a Booster Fandango, is being made possible through the generosity of the proprietors of Sawyerkill Restaurant on Washington Avenue, Saugerties. The entire premises have been donated to the band boosters for a dinner dance on April 11.
Music will be provided by Vince Edwards Orchestra. A buffet supper will be served and various gifts donated.
Mrs. John Greco and Mrs. Chris Pappas are co-chairing the benefit event. Due to limited seating, early reservations are advised.

Oriental Indigo

Using a theme of "mood indigo," denim clothes from Hong Kong will run the full range from the sublime to the sensational. The cut and the style will be international and the workmanship equal to the best in the world. But there is also a clever Oriental touch to each and every one of the coordinates and ensembles in the collection that sets them apart from anything else that might come from Rome, Tokyo, Paris or London.

Ulster County Dealers Participating in Antiques Show

Ulster County dealers will be among those participating in a new antiques show Friday through Sunday, Apr. 4-6, at the Camelot Inn on Route 9 at the southern edge of Poughkeepsie. Show hours will be 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

The exhibition and sale will bring together about 30 outstanding dealers from New England and New York State, selected according to Mrs. Mildred D. Spargo, show director, to provide the greatest possible variety of choice antiques in the space available.

Among their offerings will be both formal and "country" furniture, including Hudson Valley and Shaker pieces and a fine New England secretary in cherry and pine, circa 1790, accompanied by mahogany side chairs of Rhode Island and Massachusetts, probably Salem origin, dating to 1770 and 1780.

A notable group of early American blown glass will be offered by a Columbia County specialist. Historical flasks, art and pattern glass will be found in several booths. An exhibitor from Maine will feature a large collection of stoneware. Others will offer oriental export, early American and European pottery and china, as well as decorated stoneware.

A large group of rare dolls will be shown by a Massachusetts dealer. Others will offer toys and banks, whimsical folk art in various forms, "primitives" in wide variety, silver, brass, copper and iron wares. Fine oil paintings and rare prints, oriental rugs, quilts and handwoven coverlets also will be on hand, along with rarities in many other categories.

It is planned to make the Poughkeepsie show an annual affair, Mrs. Spargo said.

MAA Will Present Film On the Art of Pottery-Making

The Marbletown Artist's Association will present the award winning film, The Art of The Potter, in room 420, Burroughs Hall at Ulster County Community College, on April 5 at 8 p.m.

Leach, in Cornwall England, as a teacher, potter, author and spokesman for a standard, is largely responsible for the appreciation of eastern aesthetics and the stimulating influence on thousands of young potters.

Hamada is widely considered to be the best potter alive. In 1965, he was named by the government of Japan as "A Living National Cultural Treasure."

The Art of The Potter was made to illustrate pottery-making according to the highest standard, and to offer a moment of confidence amidst the most humble beginnings or working with clay.

Interested persons are urged to reserve the evening of April 5 to see this film which won a blue ribbon at the 1973 American Film Festival. Donations will be accepted to defray the cost of presentation.

Recyclers Will Get Paid, But When Is Not Certain

By TIM SCHUSTER

ELLENVILLE
There was a consensus of some sort reached Monday afternoon at the Ellenville Village Hall. Joe Messina will pay seven Ulster County municipalities the money he owes them. Just when is not certain.

The event, with television cameras grinding and local conservation minded citizens posing on cue, came about because Dorothy Schlusel of the Ellenville Environmental Conservation Commission took it upon herself to seek the court of last resort—public opinion.

It seems Joe Messina, now of Margaretville, started his glass and paper recycling business upstate with a call from the Town of New Paltz in 1973 to get rid of a mountain of glass. He had worked in New York City prior to that time.

Rosendale was the next local customer. Messina told the Freeman he lost $1,100 on the two towns' projects alone, but he was trying to get new customers and figured the word would spread and he would eventually begin to make a profit.

New accounts came from Shandaken, Red Hook, Esopus, Woodstock, Saugerties, and the Town of Rochester. Messina moved his business headquarters to Shandaken on Route 28 in May, 1973. He had six trucks on the road, four of them leased.

"I was in it for a living. I have no other income," he said.

On Aug. 12, 1974 Messina's Shandaken headquarters was robbed of about $10,000. He had paid all business contacts through June, 1974. He has not paid any since.

Seven municipalities banded together to try to get their money, a total of about $700 with half of that due Ellenville. They are in addition to Ellenville, the towns of Rosendale, New Paltz, Marletown, Rochester, Olive, and Saugerties.

Dorothy Schlusel wrote a letter to the consumer affairs department of WNBC-TV news, a six-person staff headed by consumer advocate Betty Furness, pointing out that a "volunteer group consisting of a few adults and large number of high school students" had worked many hours collecting paper and glass and had been unable to realize their profit.

A letter to Messina from Ulster County Attorney Abram Molyneux had proven ineffective, she said, and the district attorney's office said it couldn't help.

The "Action News" staff and the consumers, with the aid of the Ulster County Environmental Management Council, met Monday afternoon along with members of the local press and the story was aired.

Messina stated that the burglary, unsolved, "really put us behind." He gave up his four leased trucks. "I've never really closed the business, but I haven't been operating," he said.

His future looks brighter, however. Messina has been successful in securing a business loan from a local bank and plans to get back into the recycling game as soon as possible. He said the towns would get their money when it was economically possible for him to pay them.

Playing the Car Rebate Game . . . Still Winners, Losers

By ANDREW TULLY III

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you missed the car rebates that officially ended Feb. 28, don't worry. You still may be able to save a few dollars.

But you run the risk of losing money, too, depending on where you buy your car, which salesman you talk to and what model you want.

On Feb. 28, I walked into four car dealerships posing as a harried buyer with little time to shop around for a new car until the last minute.

I began at Circle Buick on Broadway in Midtown Manhattan. I was greeted by a smiling Sandy Moore.

"I'm in kind of a hurry," I said. "Frankly, I haven't had the time to get around to buying a car."

I told him my bank had agreed to approve a loan immediately if I could find the car that day.

According to the General Motors plan, you had to drive out of the showroom with the car by the end of the day or the rebate wouldn't apply.

Moore and I settled on a Buick Skylark SR that was in stock. The list price was $4,558. With a handful of extras, the manufacturer's price came to $4,996.

But Moore said he'd sell me the car for $4,595. Add taxes and subtract the $200 rebate on that model, the car came to $4,818.

I thanked him and said I had a few things to check out. "I understand," he said. "Hurry back."

Three weeks later I was back. I told him a misunderstanding with my bank on the last day of the rebates kept me from getting the check for the car that day.

I asked if we could look at the same car and see what it would cost me now.

The difference now, he said, was simply the rebate.

"But," he said, "I can make the dealer's price $4,575, $20 less than my original price."

That put the car into a different tax bracket and made the total price $4,941. The ultimate difference, then, was that the car would cost me only $66 more — not $200 — after the rebate.

The next dealer was Manhattan Ford on the West Side. Ford's rebate plan allowed the buyer to simply order his car by Feb. 28 to qualify for the rebate no matter when the car was delivered.

I told salesman Robert Sheehan I was interested in a Mustang II. The base price was $3,529, including a bunch of "standards." With some extras similar to the ones I asked for in the Buick, it cost $4,191.

But Sheehan would sell me the car for $3,936. With tax, the total was $4,293. Minus the $300 rebate it came to $3,993.

Three weeks later I found the only difference in price was the lack of a $300 rebate.

At Jamaica Chrysler-Plymouth in Queens I talked to salesman Bill Hendricks. I gave him the same story. It was Hendricks' first day on the job, and he wanted to be as helpful as he could.

"You did yourself a big favor," he said. "You don't have to drive out of the showroom with it today. You can wait for us to do the normal prepping and adjustments and pick it up in a few days — as long as the money transaction takes place today."

We settled on a Plymouth Gold Duster. The list price was $4,231, including a host of "standards." With a few extras, the price came to $4,719. Hendricks' price, however, was $4,860 with tax. Minus the $200 rebate, the car would have cost me $4,660.

Three weeks later, I found that the Chrysler rebate remained in effect for all Plymouth Custom Dusters and Gold Dusters through March 31. The price remained exactly the same.

My last stop was Diamond Motors, Inc., an American Motors Corp. dealership in Queens, about three miles away. Marty Boyer helped me to a two-door Hornet.

With some standards and a group of extras, the car cost $4,216. But Boyer said he'd sell me that car for $4,207.

Deduct the $200 rebate, and I would have paid $4,007.

When I returned three weeks later I found that, like Ford, AMC was offering no new gimmick for the lost rebate, at least in the Hornet model. So the only difference in price for the Hornet was the $200 rebate.

"But AMC has cut prices on our more expensive models," Boyer said. "They saw that a lower price draws customers."

"AMC isn't stupid, though," he said. "What they do is knock, say, $100 off the price of an Ambassador by eliminating steel-belted radicals from the 'standard equipment.'"

"The only trouble is," he said, "if the customer wants those tires, he has to pay about $150 for them as extras."

Fortunately, I wasn't in the market for a car.

"If it runs, keep it," says Tom Roche of Chicago, surveying his 1950 Plymouth. "Just because the way the tin is bent is out of style this year doesn't mean the thing's no good. In 20 years, it'll be in style again — as an antique. And by then, if you treat it right, you'll have gotten a million miles out of it."

ANGLERS DOT BOICEVILLE STREAM

1975 Trout Opener: Fine Day, Few Fish

KINGSTON — When the first day of New York State's 183-day trout season ended under ideal conditions Tuesday, the fishermen still outnumbered the fish caught by about 1,000 to 1. A cool early morning gradually developed into a beautiful afternoon with temperatures in the 50s, but, by and large, it wasn't the angler's day.

There were exceptions, of course, like Theodore G. Peck 4th, known as Ted Peck in local angling circles and his perennial partner, Jack Darwak. Each collected his creel limit of 10 on the main stream.

Sam Propp of Kingston, who makes it a habit to come up with at least one big one every season opener, did it again hauling a 24-inch, 5½-pound German Brown out of the Pepacten Reservoir. A year ago, Propp landed a 26-inch German Brown in those same waters, probably in the same spot. He used a spoon each time.

But it wasn't that kind of a day for Henry (Sonny) Barnes, one of the area's real angling pros, who was almost shut out. "I thought it was one of the worst opening days in years," said Barnes. "The water conditions were good, maybe a little cold but the fish just weren't hitting. I didn't see anybody with a creel limit all day. Some guys had two or three fish but no big ones."

A year ago, Barnes and Darwak both got their limit on opening day. Barnes had been doing it for years until Tuesday.

The Peck-Darwak combination used good old-fashioned garden hackle for their mixed bag at a location they naturally refused to divulge. "Just say it was on the main stream," said Peck, who is a distant relative of Theodore Gordon the internationally famous trout and fly casting expert.

Darwak had three rainbows in the 14-15 inch range and seven browns. Peck split it evenly with five rainbows and five browns, his biggest being a 14-inch brown.

"The fish weren't really feeding," Peck pointed out. You really had to work at it."

However, the big man in the Peck family Tuesday night was Ted's 7-year-old son, Teddy, who brought home two rainbow beauties—a 15-inch golden rainbow and a 15-inch regular.

"Gee, dad, I caught bigger fish than you did," the youngster inevitably reminded his father. But like his dad, Teddy refused to reveal the location of the stream where he made his haul.

Business was unusually slow for opening day at such traditional checking points as Carroll's Bait Box on Route 28 and Spada's Sport Shop in Kingston. Carroll's reported that young Mike Scully had landed eight trout, ranging from 12 to 16 inches in the Sawkill Creek in the neighborhood of the Woodstock Country Club.

Folkert's in Phoenicia, always the area's focal point in the county on opening day, reported a couple of fine catches. Ed Doyle of Port Ewen, using salmon eggs, hauled in a 21-inch rainbow and 15½-inch brown, while Jim McGrath of Phoenicia bagged rainbows of 16½ and 21-inches, the best tandem catches of the day.

One of the biggest catches in the state was reported at Catherine's Creek near Montour Falls, one of the nation's best known spots where Walter Fenton subdued a 29-inch, 8½-pound rainbow after a 20-minute battle. John Dauson of Interlaken pulled a 6-pound, 10-inch trout from Seneca Lake in upstate New York.

The heaviest concentration of anglers, as usual, was in the Esopus from Phoenicia downstream. The side streams like Lanesville and Chichester, in the best condition in years also attracted large numbers of fishermen.

With schools still in Easter recess, thousands of children swelled the opening day horde of anglers across the state. Both Peck and Barnes indicated the turnout of youngsters was the largest ever in the county.

YORK (UPI) — Walt Frazier knows the difference between winning and losing is more than just point totals and position in the standings. "When you're losing, everybody gets on your case," Frazier said after helping New York beat the Philadelphia 76ers 99-95 Tuesday night and move the Knicks to within two victories of clinching a playoff berth.

"You go home and the doorman wants to know why you didn't get your points. You go to the grocery and the clerk's got something to say about how bad we're playing. It's a miserable life when you're losing. The guys in the health food store are okay, though. They don't know me."

Frazier said people were coming up to him all year when the Knicks were on the skids, complaining that they were losing money betting on New York.

"I'm not gonna help them out now," Frazier said. "They never paid me from the other years when we were winning. They made a lot of money on us then but I never saw it. We've got the momentum now so maybe we can make some money for them in the playoffs."

The Knicks have three games left, including one Thursday night against Cleveland. Even if the Cavs beat New York, the Knicks could clinch a playoff berth by beating Milwaukee Friday and Buffalo Sunday. If New York beats Cleveland, the Knicks will clinch the NBA East wildcard spot.

"For the last two weeks we've played fantastic ball," said Frazier, who had 21 points and seven assists to complement Earl Monroe 26 points and four assists. "The bench, which didn't help early in the season, is coming on strong."

Philadelphia started out as if it was going to blow the Knicks' playoff hopes right out of the building. With excellent defense and explosive shooting, the 76ers raced to a 31-16 lead by the end of the first period.

The Knicks were still trailing by 12 with eight seconds left in the first half but managed two quick baskets on a drive by Frazier and a steal and jump shot at the buzzer by Bill Bradley to close the gap to 56-48.

"I knew at halftime that we had them," Frazier said. "We couldn't make it all back at once, we just had to pick away at them."

The Knicks stopped the erratic style of the opening minutes and started hitting the open man in the second half. They outscored Philadelphia 21-15 in the third period to draw within two at 71-69 and scored 10 points to Philadelphia's four in the last three minutes to pick up their 39th victory against 40 wins. Fred Carter had 23 for Philadelphia, Billy Cunningham 22 and Leroy Ellis and Doug Collins 19 apiece. Bradley and John Gianelli had 16 each for New York.

*** Milwaukee will be tuned in and listening very closely to the Chicago-Detroit game on radio tonight.

The Bucks came through with a 98-91 triumph over Detroit Tuesday night but the victory will mean nothing for them if the Pistons can beat Chicago tonight.

Although the Bucks and Pistons played one of the most exciting games of the season, both clubs had their minds on tonight's crucial matchup.

The victory kept Milwaukee's slim playoff hopes alive. They have three games left—with New York Friday, Detroit Saturday and Chicago Sunday. The Pistons have two left—Chicago and then Milwaukee on Saturday.

The Bucks must win their three and Detroit has to lose its two if the Bucks are to avoid missing the playoffs for the first time in five years.

"I just hope Chicago goes all out and plays like they should," Bucks Coach Larry Costello said. "Unfortunately, hope is all we have left. Let's hope somehow it happens."

"This one is over tonight and we've got a very big one coming up tomorrow night," said Pistons Coach Ray Scott. "I'm just glad—very glad—it's at home."

The Bucks were led by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's 27 points. Bob Lanier had 19 and John Mengelt 18 for Detroit.

Elsewhere, Chicago beat Buffalo 98-93, Houston downed Atlanta 113-104, Washington defeated New Orleans 110-101 and Portland ripped Los Angeles 124-106.

Bulls 98, Braves 93
Chet Walker's 24 points led six Bulls in double figures as Chicago ended a three-game tailspin and halted the Braves' five game winning streak. The Bulls took a two-game lead over idle Kansas City-Omaha in the Midwest Division with three games left. Bob McAdoo, who has won his second straight scoring title, paced Buffalo with 36 points.

Rockets 113, Hawks 104
Seven-footer Kevin Kunert hit 26 points and Rudy Tomjanovich had 27 as Houston beat Atlanta and virtually clinched a playoff spot. Houston leads idle Cleveland by one game for the second place spot in the NBA Central Division with one game to play.

Bullets 110, Jazz 101
Washington, with Elvin Hayes sinking 31 points, maintained its slim lead over Boston for the best record in the NBA by beating New Orleans. Pete Maravich led the Jazz with 19 points.

Blazers 124, Lakers 106
Sidney Wicks scored 22 points and grabbed 19 rebounds for Portland. Los Angeles, which had won eight of its last 12 games, played without injured center Elmore Smith and his absence proved to be the difference. The victory was the 36th for third place Portland, the most in its five-year history.

McAdoo Named MVP

YORK (UPI) — Center Bob McAdoo, who is less than a week away from capturing his second straight National Basketball Association scoring crown, has been named the league's most valuable player, it was announced today by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

McAdoo was the overwhelming choice in a vote of the NBA players to win the Podoloff Trophy, receiving 81 first-place votes and 547 points to easily outdistance rival Atlantic Division center and runner-up Dave Cowens of Boston.

Cowens received 32 first place votes and 310 total points based on a 5-3-1 point distribution for first, second and third place votes. Washington forward Elvin Hayes finished in third place despite receiving five more first place votes than Cowens.

Golden State's Rick Barry finished fourth in the voting and Milwaukee's Kareem Abdul-Jabbar fifth.

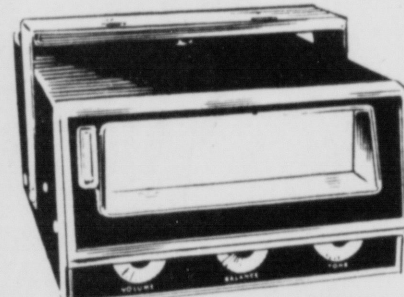

McAdoo is the 11th straight center to win the award in a string dating back to the 1964-

65 season when Bill Russell, now the coach of Seattle, was named the MVP while with Boston. The last non-center to cop the award was Oscar Robertson with Cincinnati.

"What makes winning the MVP so hard to believe is that I was a high school and college kid just a few years ago," said McAdoo, "and now all the players I heard about and read about think I'm the best and that's an honor."

McAdoo signed in 1972 with Buffalo as a hardship case out of North Carolina following his junior year. He averaged 18 points per game in winning the NBA rookie of the year award in his first season and hit at a 30.6 clip in capturing the league scoring title last season.

McAdoo has a 34-point average and a comfortable three point lead over Barry for the scoring title this season. He also is tops in minutes played, third in rebounding, fifth in field goal percentage and sixth in blocked shots.

No Surprises on Coaches' All-UCAL

PINE BUSH
There were no surprises on the All-Ulster County Athletic League (UCAL) basketball team announced today as champion Liberty and its close rival Fallsburgh dominated the selections.

The league's coaches picked one ten-man first team covering both divisions. Then they selected two five-man squads for those divisions. Also chosen were two sets of honorable mention picks.

In all, 35 players were cited. Heading the picks was Fallsburgh's 6-4 senior Sam Copeland, the league's leading scorer with a 28.3 average. Also on the overall team were Liberty's Andrae Bridges, Reggie Biddings and Milt Martin, Fallsburgh's Dave Hinton and Albert Smith, Marlboro's Anthony Monroe, Red Hook's Mike Gilfeather, Highland's Jeff Gersch, and New Paltz' Lorenzo Simmons.

Copeland, Bridges, Biddings, Hinton, and Smith made up the Division One first team. Monroe, Gilfeather, Simmons, Gersch, and Red Hook's Jim Merriken were first team Division Two picks.

Monroe, Gilfeather, and Merriken previously had been named to the Freeman's All-Star basketball team.

Bridges, Biddings, Simmons, and Monroe finished two through five respectively in the league scoring race behind Copeland. Gilfeather was seventh, Hinton ninth, Merriken 11th, Gersch 12th, and Martin 16th.

Liberty won the league championship, sweeping through its regular schedule undefeated, then beating Red Hook in the title game.

Bowlerama Juniors Advance in State Pins

KINGSTON
Two Ferraro Bowlerama juniors have advanced to regional finals in the New York State Bowling Proprietors' Junior Championships, following impressive performances in the sectional tournament at Port Jervis.

Mary Ann Buboltz posted a six-game total of 1023 to win first place in the 15-year-old girls division. She rallied with a rousing 588 set after opening with 435.

Bill Shabot captured first place in the Graduating Seniors division with a 1125 total, featuring a 599 triple.

David Ferraro missed first place by one pin in the boys

15-year-old division, despite a spectacular 651 set on top of a 523 opener. His second-place finish earned him a trip to Bowling Time Lanes in New Windsor, next stop on the elimination circuit leading to the state championships in Schenectady in May.

Paul Scism also qualified for the Port Jervis elimination tions by finishing second in the 16-year-old, non-graduating division with a 1132 set.

"We're very proud of the performances of the Bowlerama bowlers," said Mrs. Rose Schatzel, the team coach. "We think they have an excellent chance to go all the way."

Hoosier Rolls 703 Set

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — Ken Wendelman of Milan, Ind., rolled a 703 series Tuesday to move into a tie for sixth place in the singles division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament here.

Wendelman had games of 236, 234 and 233. The 38-year-old carpenter and mason constructed seven strikes in each game and appeared to be ready to take the singles lead when he opened his final game with five in a row. But one open frame and three 10-pin spares on solid pocket hits thwarted his charge.

Tuesday's competition produced new frontrunners in classic doubles. Edward Davis Jr. (652) and Joseph Ciufo (651) of Aberdeen, Md.,

Chris, Evonne Advance

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Top seeded Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and defending champion Evonne Goolagong of Australia, easily polished off first round opponents Tuesday in the $150,000 Virginia Slims women's tennis championships at the Sports Arena.

Miss Evert, the tournament's leading money winner with $81,450, routed Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., 6-1, 6-0. Miss Goolagong, who shocked Miss Evert, 6-3, 6-4 in the 1974 championship final, whipped Val Ziegenfuss of El Cajon, Calif., 6-2, 6-1.

The eight winners Tuesday will play a round-robin tournament during the next four days — Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday noon.

Unseeded Marcie Louie of San Francisco and Mona Schallau scored the only upsets. Miss Louie upended eighth-seeded Nancy Richey Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., 7-6, 7-5. Miss Schallau took advantage of the erratic play of France's Francoise Durr to defeat the sixth seeded player, 6-4, 6-3.

Miss Evert had Miss Newberry on the run almost from the start with her hard and well placed shots from the baseline. She lost only one game, the second in the first set.

"I'm winning from the backcourt," said Miss Evert in defense of her style of play. "So why should I come to the net? Why change a winning game? This tournament compares with Wimbledon and Forest Hills. It is just as important."

Although she is the leading money winner on the tour, Miss Evert said that she doesn't consider herself No. 1 at the present time.

"There are four or five tough players," she said. "They are Margaret Court, Francoise Durr, Evonne Goolagong, Billie Jean King and myself."

good style in the other matches. Second seeded Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia ripped Kathy Kuykendall of Miami, 6-2, 6-0. Third-seeded Virginia Wade of England whipped Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 6-3, 6-1. Fifth seeded Olga Morozova of Russia, the only amateur in the tournament, trounced Sue Stap of Deerfield, Ill., 6-2, 6-1. Julie Heldman of Houston, seeded No. 7, breezed past Raquel Giscarre of Argentina, 6-2, 6-1.

In matches Wednesday night, Miss Louie meets Miss Evert, Miss Heldman opposes Miss Navratilova, Miss Goolagong faces Miss Morozova and Miss Wade tangles with Miss Schallau.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed changes in telephone rate schedules have been filed with the Public Service Commission, State of New York, to be effective April 10, 1975 providing for the introduction on September 1, 1975 of charges for calls to Directory Assistance and for a Directory Assistance allowance and credit. This tariff has been filed pursuant to the Commission's Order and Opinion issued May 31, 1974 in Case 26272.

DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE SERVICE

1. General

Customers may obtain assistance in determining telephone numbers by calling the Directory Assistance operator or by furnishing the Company with written lists of names and addresses for which telephone numbers are desired. The charges for Directory Assistance Service specified herein, as well as the following provisions will apply beginning September 1, 1975.

2. Monthly Allowance and Charges

a. Three numbers may be requested of the Directory Assistance operator without charge per individual line, auxiliary line, PBX trunk and Centralized Switching Service primary non-restricted station, and 3 numbers per party on a 2-party, 4-party or multi-party line service. Numbers requested over any of the subscriber's lines which are billed on the same account are applied against the subscriber's total allowance of numbers for all lines or primary non-restricted stations subscribed for on that account.

b. Numbers requested in excess of the monthly allowance are charged for at 10¢ each. Requests for information other than telephone numbers will be charged for as requests for numbers.

c. When a call to the Directory Assistance operator, for which a charge is made, is placed by a local or long distance operator, a surcharge of 30¢ per call applies in addition to the charge per number requested as determined from Paragraphs a. and b. above, except as provided in the next sentence. If a call is placed by a local or long distance operator to a Directory Assistance operator to assist in the placing by such local or long distance operator of a local or long distance call, the charge for the call to Directory Assistance will be set forth in Paragraphs a. and b. above (without any surcharge) and the charge for the local or long distance call shall be the person-to-person or operator handled station-to-station rate applicable to such local or long distance call.

d. No charge applies for:

- (1) Calls for Directory Assistance originating from coin telephones.
- (2) Calls for Directory Assistance placed from telephones served by central office equipment of other telephone companies.
- (3) Requests for telephone numbers of non-published service, where a charge for non-published service applies.
- (4) Calls for Directory Assistance originating from telephones of hotels, apartment houses and clubs which subscribe to service for the use of guests, tenants or patrons in their rooms.
- (5) Calls for Directory Assistance from handicapped persons who have requested exemption from the Directory Assistance charge and who have been certified to the Telephone Company as being unable to use telephone directories because of a visual or physical handicap. Acceptable certifications are those made by a licensed physician, ophthalmologist or optometrist, or a social agency that conducts programs for the handicapped in cooperation with an official agency of the State of New York or pre-existing certifications establishing visual or physical inability to use a directory such as those which qualify the handicapped person for an income tax exemption or social security benefits on the basis of blindness or physical disability or for use of the facilities of an agency for the blind.

The term "Handicapped Person," when used in connection with exemptions from Directory Assistance charges, denotes those who are legally blind, visually handicapped or physically handicapped, under the following definitions from the Federal Register (Vol. 35 #126 dated June 30, 1970).

Legally Blind—those whose visual acuity is 20/200 or less in the better eye with correcting glasses, or whose widest diameter of visual field subtends an angular distance no greater than 20 degrees.

Ali Is Challenged To Wrestling Match

BELGRADE (UPI) — A 35-year old Yugoslav truck driver has challenged world heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali to a wrestling bout, the Belgrade evening newspaper Vecernje Novosti said today.

Ilija Cetnik, a 6-6 shepherd from a small village at Knin, in the Dalmatian highlands in south-central Yugoslavia, issued his challenge after hearing that Ali had agreed to fight Japanese sumo wrestlers.

Cetnik said that if Ali failed to meet him, he would sue him at an international court for deceiving the public.

"I have had enough of Clay's boasting. He is a good boxer, but talks too much. I was silent until he said he would fight free-style wrestlers with his bare hands," said the 264-pound Cetnik whose favorite sport is shot-putting with large rocks at village fairs.

"I am sure I am stronger than him and I am ready to wrestle with him any time anywhere," Cetnik said.

Cetnik has written a letter to the Yugoslav Wrestling Association to contact the Japanese Wrestling Federation which reportedly may be organizing Ali's bouts with sumo wrestlers.

Cetnik has already made training plans. "I shall need a trainer, but as far as my diet is concerned I'll take care of it myself. Heavy shepherd's cheese, lamb roasted on a spit and red village wine suit me best."

Jets Sign Richard Wood

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Jets announced Tuesday they have signed linebacker Richard Wood of Southern California, their third choice from the January college player draft.

Wood, 21, signed a multiple year contract, but no terms were announced. The 6-2, 215-pounder figures to play outside linebacker for the Jets. Ralph Baker and John Ebersole are the incumbents at that position.

Giants Add LB Coach

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants announced Tuesday the appointment of Marty Schottenheimer as an assistant coach in charge of linebackers.

Schottenheimer, 31, comes to the National Football League club from the Portland Storm of the World Football League, where he was a defensive coach.

He played five years in the NFL, four with the Buffalo Bills and one with the New England Patriots as a linebacker. Before that, he starred at Pitt.

Yanks Get Herrmann; White Out With Injury

By UPI

The New York Yankees gained a left-handed hitting reserve catcher Tuesday but may have lost a switch-hitting first baseman.

The wheeling-and-dealing Yankees, apparently not content with off-season acquisitions Catfish Hunter and Bobby Bonds, moved to back up first string catcher Thurman Munson by acquiring lefty-hitting backstop Ed Herrmann, 28, from the Chicago White Sox Tuesday for four minor leaguers.

For Herrmann, who caught 100 or more games for Chicago in each of the last four seasons and last year hit .259 with 10 homers and 39 rbis, the Yankees gave up southpaw Fred Anyeski, outfielder-first baseman John Marron, outfielder Ken Bennett and catcher Terry Quinn, plus cash.

However, fast on the heels of the Herrmann acquisition, came the news that switch-hitting Roy White, last year's leftfielder and frequent designated hitter, would be sidelined for at least a week with a chip fracture in his left thumb.

White, who had been making a fairly successful transition to first base this spring, was injured after diving for a ground ball Monday during an exhibition game between the Yanks and Minnesota. X-rays revealed a fracture and it was believed that White would likely miss the Yankees' opener versus Cleveland.

Basis of the Herrmann deal was the catcher's refusal to sign a contract with the White Sox after asking for $52,000 and being offered $48,000. He agreed to $50,000 with the Yankees and, ironically, may wind up as the club's opening day first baseman in the wake of White's injury.

In other spring training news...

The New York Mets optioned catcher Ron Hodges to Tidewater, thus opening up a spot for John Stearns, the highly-rated "throw-in" in the Tug McGraw for Del Unser trade with Philadelphia last winter. Stearns, a former No. 1 draft choice of the Phils, has had a good-hitting spring for the Mets as a backup catcher to Jerry Grote and sometime third baseman...

Montreal's spring phenom, Gary Carter, continued his hot-hitting with a two-run homer that lifted the Expos to a 9-5 win over Minnesota Twins ... Home runs by Tony Perez and Ed Armbrister highlighted a 19-hit Cincinnati attack that powered the Reds to an 8-2 victory over the Mets ...

Veck: No D.C. Games

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former major league owner Bill Veck, who is negotiating to purchase the Baltimore Orioles, says there is no chance that the team will play any games in Washington's Robert F. Kennedy stadium this year.

Veck previously had said he hoped to have the Orioles play at least 11 games in Washington if his efforts to buy the team were successful. But Veck said Tuesday that bargaining had dragged on too long and there was "no possibility at all of playing any of the Orioles' games in Washington this year if I get the club."

Veck said he had hoped to consummate the deal by last November, "but the thing dragged on."

He said negotiations are continuing between his lawyers and attorneys for Orioles owner Jerold C. Hoffberger. Veck has bid $12 million for the team. Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel has sought legislative approval for a $4 million loan to Veck's syndicate in order to help keep the baseball team in the state.

Veck said he could not state for certain whether the team would play any games in Washington in 1976 if his group makes the purchase.

Back in Training

Former heavyweight champion George Foreman hefts a 500-pound beef calf onto his shoulders at his Livermore, Calif., ranch where he went back into training for the first time since losing his title to Muhammad Ali in Zaire. Foreman has an April 26 date in Toronto where he will fight five men on the same night. (UPI)

Indiana's McGinnis Had the Right Idea

By UPI

Indiana Pacer forward George McGinnis had the right idea Tuesday. He took the evening off.

McGinnis spent the whole night on the bench watching the Denver Nuggets beat his team 126-115 in a game that didn't mean a thing. Denver already has clinched the ABA West title and the Pacers have assured themselves of third place in the Western Division.

On top of that, the snow kept falling in Denver Tuesday, surpassing the 24-hour continuous mark, and temperatures were in the low teens. And the scoreboard in the Denver Auditorium Arena didn't even work.

The game was well played as the lead changed hands 20 times and the score was tied 13 times before Bobby Jones hit a pair of quick baskets midway in the fourth quarter with Denver ahead 105-104 to send the Nuggets on their way to the win.

Nugget Coach Larry Brown was pleased with the game as all 11 Nuggets saw 15 minutes or more of action and seven scored in double figures, led by Mike Green with 24. Jones wound up with 14 points and 13 rebounds as well as three blocked shots.

Kevin Joyce led Indiana with 25 points while Len Elmore had 23 and Billy Knight and Charlie Edge had 22 apiece. Edge, playing in place of McGinnis, also had 15 rebounds and Knight, starting in place of injured Darnell Hillman, had 12 rebounds and six steals.

Leonard, whose team returns home to play Utah today, said he was hopeful Hillman could play a few minutes in the Pacers' regular season finale at San Antonio Thursday. But he said he was worried the San Jose State product might not be able to play at all.

Elsewhere, San Antonio beat San Diego 130-113, St. Louis whipped Utah 122-109 and Memphis ripped Virginia 121-102.

Spurs 130, Q's 113
Donnie Freeman's 23 points headed a list of eight Spurs in double figures. San Antonio grabbed a team record 80 rebounds to 45 for the Q's, who are out of the playoffs and who reportedly will move from San Diego next season. Coby Dietrick, playing in place of the league's leading rebounder, Swen Nater, who was ill, had a career-high 21 rebounds for the Spurs and scored 20 points.

Spirits 122, Stars 109
Marvin Barnes and Freddie Lewis scored 26 points each and keyed a third quarter rally for St. Louis. Barnes won his personal battle over his rival for Rookie of the Year honors, Moses Malone. Besides his scoring, he also pulled down 19 rebounds compared with 20 points and 10 rebounds for Malone.

Sounds 121, Squires 102
George Carter scored 24 points and Chuck Williams added 19 for Memphis. The Sounds scored 15 straight points midway through the second half and stretched a 79-74 lead to 94-74. During one fourth-quarter span, the Sounds outscored the Squires 23-5.

World Tennis Always Looking

HOUSTON (UPI) — It's no secret World Team Tennis is looking for every draw possible during its upcoming second year. And for that reason, president Larry King quietly accepted a recent disappointment.

During the league's last meeting, King recommended to the 11 owners that a well perfected electronic system of line calling be utilized.

"The owners," he said, "just felt it might take something away from the game to not have linesmen for the fans to yell at."

But with stronger players and stronger serves, he said, electronic gear—be it in the court or the balls—is inevitable.

He said he always felt a twinge of embarrassment returning to the city.

"As you all know, this is where my wife (Billie Jean) beat Bobby Riggs," he said. "What you probably don't remember is that this is where he beat me."

King said three months ago he had doubts the WTT, after a financially unrewarding first season, would exist in 1975.

Rondout Advisory Board Plans for 1975

Newly installed officers of the Rondout Advisory Board discuss plans and programs that will take priority during 1975. Shown (L-R) are Lester Hatcher, chairman; Gertrude Schnur, vice-chairperson and Victoria Ector, secretary. To date, the board has endorsed the creation of a local tenants' rights organization and will concern itself with education, legal services, housing, health care, employment and youth programs for the poor, elderly and minority residents of Kingston. (Freeman photo)

Big Vanilla Owners Ask Reorganization

NEW YORK (UPI) — Citing poor skiing weather, the energy crisis and the sagging economy, Okura-Davos International Inc. of New York City, operator of the Big Vanilla ski area in Sullivan County and the Mount Snow resort in Vermont, filed for reorganization Tuesday under the Federal Bankruptcy Act.

The firm's new president, Frederick M. Kerr, said in papers filed in U.S. District Court that the firm's estimated liabilities amount to $24.6 million. Its estimated total assets come to $10.3 million, he said.

"Poor skiing weather, the energy crisis and the overall economic conditions resulted in a substantially diminished revenue," Kerr said.

Mount Snow in West Dover, Vt., he said, "did not realize its full potential because of its inability to develop and sell its real estate, primarily due to the lack of adequate sewage treatment facilities."

Land sales at Big Vanilla in Woodbridge, Kerr said, were hampered by the depressed real estate market and the unavailability of mortgage money. The energy crisis made it difficult for prospective purchasers from the metropolitan areas to visit the area, he said.

In addition, another subsidiary, Heritage Village Corp., sustained substantial losses in conducting a land development operation in Plymouth, Mass., Kerr said.

Kerr asked to continue in business until arrangements can be worked out to satisfy creditors.

City School Board

KINGSTON
The final regular board of education meeting of Kingston City Schools Consolidated to be held before the deadline for filing school board candidacy petitions will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the board's office at 61 Crown Street.

Several persons have taken out petition forms from the board clerk's office. No records are kept of those taken, only those returned, according to an administration spokesman. Deadline for filing is April 16.

The annual election will be held May 6.

Superintendent Louis Salzmann said this week that regular district business is scheduled, with the annual awarding of bids for such items as groceries and paper on the agenda.

With the proximity of elections close at hand, it is likely that some candidates will announce their intentions soon. Incumbents Marianne Darrow and Thomas Reynolds' terms expire this year.

Fatal Shooting Goes to Grand Jury

KINGSTON
An Ulster County Grand Jury is expected to begin hearing testimony Friday in the fatal shooting of a Kingston man last week by an off-duty New Paltz patrolman.

Edward D. VanHorn, 26, of 41 Brewster Street was fatally wounded in the neck after allegedly stabbing Patrolman Richard Thompson in the abdomen, according to information released by police immediately following the incident.

Authorities said Thompson and another off-duty patrolman, Charles Walton, were in a tavern early last Thursday when VanHorn began harassing them.

VanHorn was known to be carrying a knife, police said, and the patrolmen followed him from the tavern for questioning. A foot chase ensued, and the shooting and stabbing followed, police said. The two patrolmen were suspended, reportedly without pay, following the incident pending the outcome of the grand jury investigation. All fatal shootings by police are presented to grand juries in New York State as a matter of course.

Youths Injured

TOWN OF ROCHESTER
Two Accord youths were apparently seriously injured Tuesday afternoon when the car in which they were riding ran off Mettchahonts Road in the Town of Rochester and slammed headon into a tree. A third passenger escaped with minor injuries.

Richard W. Smith Jr., 19, the driver of the auto, and Terry Kinch, 19, were both being kept in the intensive care unit at the Benedictine Hospital today. Reports on their conditions were not available. The two were transferred to the Benedictine Hospital from Ellenville Community Hospital, where they were first taken following the 4:15 p.m. crash. Raymond Churchwell, 17, also of Accord, was treated and released at the Ellenville hospital following the mishap.

State police said the Smith car failed to negotiate a curve and ran off the left side of the road before hitting the tree. Summonses were issued for failure to keep right, speed not reasonable or prudent and unsafe tires, police said.

Elsewhere, a young New Paltz man somehow escaped with only minor cuts and bruises following a devastating crash Tuesday night on Route 9W in the Town of Esopus.

State police said a Corvette driven by Frank J. Sessler, 28, ran off the roadway and slammed into a stone wall and then a tree. The impact tore the vehicle in half, scattering parts of the wreckage over 300 feet, and ejecting Sessler, police said. Sessler was taken to Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie, where he was treated and released.

Sessler was issued summonses for driving while intoxicated, failure to keep right, speed not reasonable or prudent and unsafe tires.

Chodaba Scores Moves

SAUGERTIES
Jane Chodaba, Saugerties Democratic chairwoman, has scored "back room planning" by Republicans that she claims keeps the most qualified persons from appointive town offices.

She termed "musical chairs" and "bowing to the Republican attorney clique" a development at the recent town board meeting when Michael Catalinotto resigned as Town justice; Councilman Henry Breitenbach nominated Tim Murphy, another attorney and court clerk, to take his place; and another attorney was reportedly favored to get the court clerk job.

With the support of Democratic Councilman Bud Smith, Mrs. Chodaba urged town residents "who are tired of political wheeling and dealing and the type of back room planning which usually takes place before town board meetings" to come out to Thursday's Town Board meeting and support Village Justice David Goble as nominee for town justice.

Evictions Continue At Trailer Park

HURLEY

The Ulster County Health Department is proceeding with the eviction of two remaining mobile home families at Tabby's Trailer Park, Walton Lane, Hurley.

Dr. B. Dutto, health commissioner, noted that the official notice to residents of three trailers on the dead end road off Lucas Avenue had given them until April 1 to leave.

Reasons stated for the evictions were that raw sewerage was exposed on the grounds and there was a "poorly maintained, non-operative chlorination system." It was also noted that there were masses of refuse scattered about the grounds.

While ownership of the property remains in question, Dr. Dutto said that the law states the owner, not tenants, is responsible for upkeep and will ultimately have to correct health hazards.

One resident is expected to leave the trailer park by Saturday. The other is being aided by the Ulster County Department of Social Services in finding a spot to relocate.

Pilgrimage Bus Crashes; 20 Are Reported Dead

VIZILLE, France (UPI) — A bus crowded with religious pilgrims today missed a sharp curve and veered off a highway, plunging 130 feet onto the banks of the River Romanche just south of Grenoble.

Police reported at least 20 dead and 20 injured. Many of the injured were reported in serious condition.

Officials said the victims, all from the Loiret area near Paris, were returning from a pilgrimage to Notre Dame de la Salette in the French Alps.

They said the bus apparently lost its brakes and missed the sharp, right-angled turn on the highway, known as the "Route Napoleon."

It crashed through stone barriers of a bridge crossing and plunged into the ravine, landing on the rocky left bank.

Rescue teams managed to reach the scene of the accident within 10 minutes, but policemen and firemen had to cut their way through the wreckage to reach the victims.

In 1973, 43 persons died when a Belgian bus smashed through the barriers at exactly the same spot and fell into the river.

Since 1946, over 100 persons have died at the bridge, one of the most hazardous spots in France, police said, includes previous

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Using pressure to achieve results will not be effective today. Be tactful — you'll catch more flies with honey than vinegar.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're likely to waste much time today trying to fix blame for a blunder. It's far wiser to just correct the mistake.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't expect another to do more for you than you're willing to do in return. If you want to dance, you must pay the piper.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your attitude will determine the kind of response you receive from others today. If you're sharp-tongued or cranky, expect a reply in kind.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You don't readily take to suggestions today. You fear others are dictating rather than trying to help.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An unpleasant social experience can be avoided today if you excuse yourself from the presence of one with whom you've had angry words.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Something you've promised has been neglected. Today you'll be pressured to get the job done by victims of your procrastination.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your first reaction today is to view situations negatively. Remember, they may have a bright side as well.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone already indebted to you will try to tap you again if he thinks he can get away with it. If you give in, don't cry about it later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) On an important matter today, don't saddle yourself with one who can't carry her weight. She's a handicap you can't afford.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The weight on your shoulder is the heavy hand of neglected responsibility. React, but don't try to do what you've left ride all at once.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let yourself be pressured into doing things against your better judgment. When you say "No," mean it.

April 3, 1975

Rewards that have been slow in coming to you will be reaped this year. Nature may seem tardy in acting, but she'll deliver as promised.

Win at Bridge

Losing Play Gets Sympathy

By Oswald &amp; James Jacoby

Here is a hand from the recent World's championship, where the unfortunate declarer might well fill the roll of the Unlucky Expert.

The bidding is interesting though not very instructive. A look over the cards will show that North and South can collect 13 easy tricks at notrump, spades or hearts. Of course, a four-one spade break would ruin all grand slams but in this case we can see that the spades are going to behave nicely.

Anyway, South found himself in a conservative six-heart contract. The five of diamonds was opened and some five minutes later, South had played the deuce from dummy. East won the trick, led the suit back and watched the slam go to never-never land.

Most of the time we tell people that you can find sympathy in the dictionary somewhere between stupidity and unconsciousness, but this time we do sympathize with poor South.

He had no sound reason to expect a singleton diamond lead and had he played the diamond ace the hand would have collapsed against a four-one spade break. This way, if East had to win the trick with the king or queen he would not have been able to lead the suit back and South could then have handled a 4-1 spade break.

MAYOR RICHARD DALEY

(UPI)

Daley Wins Biggest Landslide

By United Press International

It was the same old story — only enlarged. Richard J. Daley mounted the speakers platform to the strains of "Chicago" and a roaring ovation Tuesday night and told about 3,000 supporters how glad he was that they had given him an unprecedented sixth term and the biggest landslide win in his 20 years of civic majesty.

The 72-year-old Democratic power-broker and kingmaker won nearly 78 percent of the vote, the biggest percentage of his career, to vanquish John J. Hoellen, the last incumbent Republican in the Chicago City Council.

The stigma left on the Daley image by the riots of the 1968 Democratic National Convention and the barring of the Daley delegation from the party's 1972 convention were washed away in the flood of voter support.

"It's hard to be a Republican in Chicago," Hoellen said as he watched the mounting landslide.

The only surprise in the Chicago race came in alderman runoffs as one Republican-endorsed candidate and an anti-Daley independent scored upset wins. Democrats had been expected to hold all 50 City Council seats and Daley forces had been expected to have 47 of those.

The Daley race headlined a bevy of municipal elections throughout the nation.

In Texas, San Antonio voters gave Lila Cockrell a chance to become the first woman mayor of a major Texas city and Dallas Mayor Wes Wise scored an easy victory for a third term.

Mrs. Cockrell, a City Council veteran, rolled up 47,647 votes to 26,565 for her primary opponent, beer distributor John Monfrey. However, Mrs. Cockrell fell short of the 51 percent she needed to avoid a runoff with Monfrey.

Wise triumphed over the Citizens Charter Association candidate John Schoellkopf in a five-way race.

In Madison, Wis., Paul Soglin, 29, a one-time antiwar protest leader at the University of Wisconsin who became mayor of the college town, won a second term, defeating Henry Reynolds, a 69-year-old conservative and a former mayor of the college town.

In predominantly black and perennially troubled East St. Louis, Ill., James E. Williams Sr., the city's first black mayor, was unseated by William E. Mason. Mason, the superintendent of the city's scandal-scarred school district, had strong backing from the Democratic party organization in his successful bid to become the second black man to head the city government.

Lower Food Prices This Month

By UPI

An oversupply of beef, potatoes, dry beans and split peas and plentiful supplies of 12 or more other staples promise lower retail prices this month for American shoppers.

But how much lower is anybody's guess. Marketing specialists at the U.S. Department of Agriculture said prices for the first four items have been declining slowly.

Ground chuck remained about 89 to 99 cents a pound in most of the 24 cities covered in UPI's weekly survey of 17 basic grocery items. It reached a high of $1.19 in Jacksonville, Fla., and a low of 59 cents for the third week in a row in Los Angeles.

In Birmingham, 39-cent-a-pound broiler-fryers were the lowest for the third successive week, followed by 41 to 49 cents a pound in Dallas, Phoenix, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Jacksonville, Fla., Little Rock and Philadelphia. But they hit a high of 88 cents a pound in Portland, Ore., which also reported the week's high of $1.88 a pound for loin end pork chops.

The same cut of pork was below $1 a pound in only four cities—Cincinnati, Dallas, Little Rock and New York. To make it go further, try dried bean casseroles such as a French cassoulet made with one or more kinds of pork and/or sausages, or a German-style casserole of pork chops, sauerkraut and potatoes.

This is also a good week to make your own french fries any place but Phoenix, where a one-pound package of the frozen, heat-and-eat variety cost only 21 cents. The high of 63 cents a pound was reported in Honolulu. Food prices generally are high there because most products are imported. Frozen french fries sold mostly for 39 to 48 cents a pound elsewhere.

Sugar prices continued to decline slowly. The price of a 5-pound bag was below $2 in 19 cities on the UPI list and above $2 in only five. The top was $2.49 a bag in New York, closely followed by Atlanta, at $2.39. The low of $1.69 in Pittsburgh was six cents below last week's low of $1.75 in Cincinnati.

Frozen orange juice concentrate dropped below 30 cents for a 6-ounce can in Pittsburgh, Phoenix, Los Angeles, Birmingham, Atlanta, Concord, N.H. and Hartford, Conn., but was generally 30 to 35 cents elsewhere.

LaRue Begins Jail Term

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Former White House consultant Fred C. LaRue, the first man to plead guilty in the Watergate cover-up and the last to be sentenced, began serving a six-month prison term Tuesday.

The balding, bespectacled former top aide of ex-Attorney General John N. Mitchell surrendered to federal officials at Maxwell Air Force Base's minimum security prison. Warden R.W. Grunski said he would be treated like the facility's 265 other inmates.

LaRue, a Mississippi oil millionaire and land developer who became known as the Nixon administration's Southern strategist, was sentenced to one to three years by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica after pleading guilty to conspiring to obstruct justice.

Sirica suspended all but six months of the term.

The 46-year-old onetime GOP national committeeman from Mississippi worked in Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign and left Jackson, Miss., in 1969 to join the White House staff as an aide after the election. But he was on the staff — without pay — for three years before his name was listed in the White House directory.

During the 1972 campaign, LaRue went to the Committee for the Re-Election of the President as a special assistant to Mitchell, where he became known as the campaign director's right hand man.

After Mitchell resigned from the campaign, LaRue became special assistant to his successor, Clark MacGregor. It became known quickly that he was a go-between for Mitchell and MacGregor, allowing Mitchell to keep his hand in the campaign.

LaRue pleaded guilty June 28, 1973, to one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice and offered key testimony at both the 1973 Senate watergate hearings and the 1974 cover-up trial.

He confessed that he helped handle payoffs to the Watergate defendants and helped destroy incriminating records concerning Watergate.

He testified he was present March 30, 1972, when Mitchell allegedly approved an intelligence-gathering plan that led to the break-in at the Democratic offices in the Watergate hotel three months later. He also pleaded guilty to handling more than $300,000 in hush money.

Texas Boss Chooses Death Over Jail

CONCEPCION, Tex. (UPI) — South Texas political boss George B. Parr, 74, who was called "the Duke of Duval," was found shot to death Tuesday. Authorities said he committed suicide.

Parr, who faced a prison sentence for income tax evasion, was supposed to have appeared in Corpus Christi Monday for a hearing concerning his latest tax evasion conviction. When he failed to appear, he was ordered arrested.

Texas Rangers fanned out across South Texas Tuesday hunting him. Ranger Gene Powell, riding in a Department of Public Safety helicopter, spotted Parr's car near a windmill 5½ miles from the nearest farmhouse on Parr's Los Orcones Ranch. Rangers found Parr's body slumped over the steering wheel at 11:20 a.m.

Justice of the Peace Luis Elizondo ruled Parr shot himself in the right temple with a pistol found near the body. "There was no note, no nothing," Elizondo said.

Parr was convicted of tax evasion in March, 1974, for failing to claim $287,000 in income between 1966 and 1969. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison but was free under bond pending appeal.

Parr was born in San Diego, Tex., March 7, 1901, the son of a state senator, and was elected county judge in 1926.

He was sent to prison a short time later on his first income tax evasion conviction, but an estimated 30,000 citizens, including then Gov. James Allred, signed petitions asking for a pardon. Parr served 9½ months and after World War II was granted a full pardon by President Harry S. Truman.

At the peak of his power, George Parr ruled with an iron hand in the oil-rich brush country. Only federal investigators and the Texas Rangers ever questioned his authority.

Parr's supporters contended he was generous with gifts to the sick and needy and a helper to the uneducated Mexican-American population when no one else would. His detractors regarded him as a benevolent despot and often accused him of violence.

Parr's biggest political coup came two years later with the now famous Box 13 of Jim Wells County that sent Lyndon B. Johnson to the Senate for the first time. The count from Box 13, reported six days after the election, gave LBJ almost 300 votes to one for his opponent in the Democratic runoff, providing Johnson with an 87-vote victory margin in the election and the nickname "Landslide Lyndon."
